

Council Approves Reapportion Plan by 8-5

List Vote District Changes Pass Exemption For Senior Group

Reapportionment of the city's voting wards, based on a majority report of a seven-man committee dealing with it, was approved by an 8-5 party vote of the Common Council, which at its Thursday night recessed meeting also approved a tax cut for senior citizens and a committee report on a new health plan for city employees.

Reapportionment, as approved, leaves the city with 13 wards, but with drastically changed location and boundaries.

Effective in 1967
A minority report by Republican members of the special committee proposing consideration of two plans, each with 12 wards, was rejected by the same 8-5 party vote.

Changes in voting districts, as approved, are to become effective for the November, 1967 election. As also approved last night, eight supervisors are to be elected at large, instead of separate ward vote.

Boundary Changes
As now mapped, the new First and Second wards would be parts of the old 12th, the Third, and Fourth parts of the old 11th, the Fifth would be parts of the First and Second, and the Sixth and Seventh, parts of the old Second, the Eighth, part of the old Third, the Ninth, part of the old Fourth, the Tenth, parts of the old Fourth, Seventh and Eighth, the 11th, parts of the old Sixth, Seventh and 13th, the 12th would be parts of the former, Third, Fourth, Ninth and 11th, and the new 13th would be parts of the old Third, Eighth and Ninth.

A majority committee report on the proposed change was signed by Democratic alderman Edward Norton, chairman, Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig and Clifford Sinsbaugh. Minority members, Robert C. Schantz, George Margi, and Minority Leader John Machione, favored an A Plan and an alternate B Plan, each of which called for 12 wards.

Under the A Plan each aldermanic district would elect three aldermen.

Insurance Official Dutchess Records 46th Road Death, Auto Slams Tree

Dutchess county authorities today chalked up the county's 46th highway death of 1966, after Albert W. Meurer, 63, of Salt Point Road, Town of Pleasant Valley, was killed as his 1965 sedan crashed into a tree not far from his home.

Well-Known in Valley
Meurer operated an insurance business in Poughkeepsie for many years and was well known in the Mid-Hudson Valley. He also was active in the Shriners organization.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles Borchers told The Freeman that Meurer was driving northeast on Salt Point Road near West Road, Pleasant Valley, shortly before midnight when his car apparently failed to straighten after making a left curve and the vehicle slammed into a large tree.

Dr. John W. LaCelle of Pleasant Valley pronounced Meurer dead at the scene. Dr. William G. Thompson, Rhinebeck, a Dutchess County assistant medical examiner issued a preliminary finding of accidental death pending an autopsy.

Dr. Thompson said Meurer died of a broken neck.

Acquitted Doctor Goes South Today-New Trial

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino, acquitted of murder but still not free, returns to his home state of Florida today to face yet another trial for his life.

Wracked with emotion, Coppolino, 34, was whisked from the Monmouth County Courthouse and returned to a jail cell Thursday after a jury found him innocent in the death of retired Army Lt. Col. William E. Farmer.

Will Sign Papers If Court Finds Lunis Qualify

As the result of a conference held by Judge R. Waldron Herzberg at the Courthouse in Kingston this week with Judge William E. J. Connor, of Hudson, special guardian for Beth St. John, Richard Griggs, assistant county attorney, representing Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons, and Leonard N. Tarr, of Brooklyn, counsel for the Lunis, Judge Herzberg announced today he had been designated by the Appellate Division as Family Court Judge to consider a petition for the adoption of the child, Beth, by the Yuni family.

In the event the courts find the reports warrants the granting of an order of adoption Commissioner Fitzsimmons indicated he would sign the necessary consent.

Lottery Won By 860,204, Report Notes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An official canvass shows that a proposed lottery in New York State, heavily favored in pre-balling polls, won approval by 2,464,898 to 1,604,694 in the Nov. 8 election.

The State Board of Canvassers certified that tally Thursday in favor of the measure to change the state constitution to permit a state-operated lottery. Now, the state Legislature is faced with establishing guidelines for the lottery's operation.

Four Changes Defeated
The canvassers met here Thursday to put their official seal on the results of the election, which saw seven of the proposed constitutional amendments on the statewide ballot approved.

Four proposed changes in the constitution were defeated by the electorate, however.
The only non-constitutional proposal, one to authorize $200 million in state borrowing for expansion of state recreational facilities, won easily. There were 2,402,363 votes in favor of the measure and 1,660,392 against it. Here are the other proposals approved:

Proposed Amendment No. 2—Authorizing the loan of state money to improve employment opportunities in any areas of the state. The vote was 2,007,131 "yes" and 1,724,243 "no." Hereafter, such bonds could be used only in parts of the state in which unemployment is a critical problem.

Pass Centerville Bond of $41,850 For Two Pumpers

Voters in the Centerville Fire District on Thursday backed up the Board of Fire Commissioners and approved a proposition to authorize the district officials to purchase two fire trucks at a cost of $41,850.

The vote was close to three to one. Officials reported 359 eligible voters went to the polls. The vote was 236 in favor of the proposition, 100 against, and three ballots were voided.

Urged Approval
Members of the Board of Fire Commissioners, in an open letter published in Thursday's Freeman had urged taxpayers in the district to approve the purchase of two trucks, rather than one as recommended by the Centerville Fire Co.

The commissioners noted that two trucks with 750 gallons of water on each for a total of 1,500 gallons would be better for the district than one truck with only 1,000 gallons of water. The board also contended that in their opinion two trucks could provide better coverage for the district.

According to plans, one truck will be assigned to the Centerville Firehouse and the other to Cedar Grove Fire Station. Because of the recent and rapid expansion of the fire district the commissioners agreed that two trucks were needed rather than one.

The cost of one truck which was recommended by Centerville Fire Company would have had a capacity of 1,000 gallons of water and the cost would have been in the neighborhood of $27,500 to (Continued on Page 39, Col. 5)

Sign Pact To Build School

Coleman Plant To Cost $3,000,000

The Building Commission of the Archdiocese of New York has announced that the contract for the construction of the new John A. Coleman Catholic High School on Hurley Avenue, has been awarded to the Warwick Construction Company of Warwick.

$3,000,000 Plant
Architects for the building are Paver and Wildfoerster of Middletown. The $3,000,000 three-story structure will provide 16 class rooms, science laboratories, a library, gymnasium, cafeteria, team-teaching room, a student chapel, health, guidance and administrative offices, in addition to a third story convent which will house the Sisters of St. Ursula who will administer the school.

Provisions will be made for student activity offices, outdoor track and playing fields. The completed building will house approximately 640 students.

The date for ground-breaking ceremonies will be announced in the near future.

Expansion Possible
The Freeman reported on March 9 this year that the school, designed to accommodate 640 boys and girls with the possibility of expansion at some future date to a capacity of 920 students, was scheduled to open for occupancy in September 1967.

The Coleman School is to be staffed primarily by Sisters of St. Ursula with the assistance of the Marist Brothers, Brothers of the Christian Schools and lay teachers.

Haiphong Area Comes Under Two Attacks; Avoid Capital

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. warplanes stayed away from the Hanoi area Thursday as controversy continued to rage around the world over American attacks in the vicinity of the North Vietnamese capital.

With missions over the Communist North limited to 58 by bad weather, American pilots made two attacks in the neighborhood of Hainphong, North Vietnam's chief port. But most raids reported by the U.S. Command were in the southern part of North Vietnam, with a few in the area of Dien Bien Phu, near the Laotian frontier.

Rainstorms and a low ceiling were reported in the Hanoi area.

The lull in ground fighting in South Vietnam continued, with only small scattered skirmishes reported.

The targets in the Haiphong area Thursday were a radar site 11 miles southeast of the city and cargo barges 26 miles east-southeast of the harbor, the U.S. Command said.

In the special communique denying that American planes had bombed Hanoi, U.S. military headquarters said that U.S. pilots on Wednesday reported seeing one of the surface-to-air missiles which the Soviet Union supplies to North Vietnam hit a North Vietnamese junk and destroyed it.

This apparently was intended to imply that the damage to Hanoi reported Tuesday and Wednesday by the Communists might have been caused by Red anti-aircraft shells or missiles falling onto the city, which is reportedly ringed with some 2,000 anti-aircraft positions. Twice earlier this year American pilots have reported seeing the Soviet-made missiles land in populated areas of North Vietnam.

GOP Undecided on Challenge

Affirm Dems Will Control Conclave

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An official canvass of the Nov. 8 election puts control of the state Constitutional Convention with the Democrats, and leaves the Republicans uncertain whether to challenge the vote in court.

Garraghan Hopes To 'Hold Line,' Wary on County

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, today hitting on the reported increases in the county tax, said that unless taxes other than that on real estate is approved, "no person will want to live in Ulster County."

Reduction Possible
He noted he is now working on the city budget and thinks he can "hold the line" and "perhaps reduce" taxes.

His statement: "I haven't seen the County budget however, if the increase for county expenditures for 1967 is such a large amount some revenue source other than real estate taxes must be adopted. I am working on the City budget and believe I can hold the line, perhaps reduce the City taxes. I am not responsible for the increase in the county tax, if I were, there would be no increase. If the city can hold the line, so can the county."

"Last February, I asked the Board of Supervisors to adopt a (Continued on Page 39, Col. 1)

The State Board of Canvassers affirmed Thursday that the Democrats would control the important conclave by a margin of 13 seats, with 89 of the 171 delegates elected from the state's Senate districts, and 13 of the 15 at-large delegates.

Elected 82
The Republicans elected 82 from the senatorial districts and two delegates-at-large.

The canvass also affirmed that because the Conservative party polled more votes in the gubernatorial race than the Liberals, the Conservatives would replace the Liberals in Row C in the next statewide balloting. The Liberals will drop back to Row D.

The voting for Constitutional Convention delegates did not stir great enthusiasm among many voters but it was vitally important to the state's political parties. The purpose of the convention is to revise and simplify the state constitution. The party with the most delegates will be able to command reshaping of the document. The convention is scheduled convene here April 4, 1967.

GOP Was Losing
Earlier, unofficial returns had shown the Republicans losing in the delegate race.

In addition, Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo, a Republican, told the board before it acted that he was not pleased with the method in which the at-large vote was tabulated by many election boards.

Problems arose when voters desired to split their tickets for the delegates-at-large. Books of gummed stickers were provided, and ticket - splitters were instructed to write in their choices and attach them to a roll of paper inside an opening on the voting machine.

In some cases, the stickers fell to the bottom of the voting booths or down inside the machines.

Lomenzo requested all election boards to count such votes, but he said only 30 reported they had done so. New York City was among the communities that did not.

Says All Bombs Fell On Targets

See Damage From City's Own Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States offered the world a flat denial today of North Vietnamese charges that American warplanes bombed inside the city limits of Hanoi Tuesday and Wednesday.

Statements from Saigon and Washington, designed to refute widely spread Communist reports that the United States has begun a new escalation of the Vietnamese war, claimed that:

Photos Reviewed
A review of reconnaissance photos showed that all bombs fell on designated targets: a truck depot two miles south of the city limits and a railroad yard five miles northeast of the city. The photos showed, the U.S. Military Command in Saigon said today, that no bombs fell within the city as shown on a 1965 North Vietnamese map.

— A U.S. Military Command review of pilots' reports on the strikes showed that American warplanes struck only the scheduled target areas. "I didn't see a single bomb off target," said Lt. (jg.) John Barron, 25, of Philadelphia, one of the pilots who raided the truck park.

Not Deliberate: Foreigners
— Reports from foreigners living in Hanoi indicated there almost certainly were no deliberate attacks inside the city by American planes, although some homes were badly damaged. The reports, made available by U.S. officials here, also showed that the foreigners believed the damage was caused by North Vietnamese anti-aircraft missiles or unexploded anti-aircraft shells.

The detailed U.S. reports came amidst sharp criticism of American policy in Vietnam from the Communist world, London, the Vatican and the United Nations.

U.S. officials both in Saigon and Washington made it clear they also believed the damage inside the city was caused by (Continued on Page 39, Col. 3)

President Notes Great Sacrifice, Patience on Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scene was hopeful and cheery: a choir singing, the lights on a 70-foot red fir burning brightly at dusk.

Sober Words
But the words from President Johnson were sober. Christmas was the national Christmas.

"The months ahead will be tough," he said, "and we will have to be patient and have honor will surely follow."

A group of youths chanted "stop bombing Hanoi" as the President arrived for the ceremony and his second talk of the day on war and peace.

There was no interruption of his speech to the 5,000 persons at the park-like area south of the White House, however, as he said:

"The months ahead ... will require great sacrifice and patience and understanding and tolerance from each of us."

Walt Disney's Brother Vows Enterprises Will Continue

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Death has taken producer Walt Disney, a onetime Missouri farm boy whose creative genius delighted a troubled world.

He died Thursday, 10 days after his 65th birthday and 5½ weeks after a lung operation.

In 40 years Disney's enterprises ranged from such screen delights as Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Snow White to the world - famous amusement park, Disneyland — with more projects ever in the works.

Fred MacMurray, star of six Disney films said, "The joy he brought spanned the barriers of language, customs and nationality."

Empire Will Grow
The empire will keep on growing, said Walt's older brother Roy, president and chairman of the board of Walt Disney Productions.

"Walt Disney's preparation for the future is a solid creative foundation," said Roy. "All the plans for the future that Walt had begun through motion pictures, the expansions of Disneyland, television production and our Florida and Mineral King projects will continue to move ahead."

Besides multimillion-dollar additions to Disneyland, the projects include a $100-million, 27,000-acre Disney World at Orlando, Fla., and a $35-million recreation facility at Mineral King in California's High Sierra.

Funeral services will be private. The family asked that in lieu of flowers contributions be made to the California Institute (Continued on Page 39, Col. 6)

$12,337,337 Reported In New County Budget

The cost of operating the various departments of Ulster County for the year 1967 is estimated at approximately $1,865,000 more than last year, according to the 1967 tentative budget which will be presented at a public hearing Monday at 7 p. m. at the county office building.

Following the public hearing the board will meet to adopt a budget.

It is estimated that the total amount to be raised by real estate tax levy is $3,341,450.51, against $4,745,296.48 during the current year. This is an increase of real estate tax levy of slightly less than $600,000.

General Fund surplus last year was $400,000 while credited against the 1967 budget are surpluses in the amount of $530,000. Welfare costs are up approximately $340,000 over last year, due almost wholly to the new State Medicaid program.

The Community College requirement for 1967 is approximately $1,047,169.11.

Guns Before Butter

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Soviet Union's guns-before-butter budget portends new political strains for Moscow. The budget, reflecting for 1967 the highest rate of military spending in a decade, indicates a substantial hardening of attitude toward the United States and resumption of some of the more chilling tactics of the Cold War.

Several Causes

There are several causes. First — According to information coming from Moscow, the Kremlin is uneasy about the U.S. government, as if fearing its past performances in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic means it is ready and willing to intervene anywhere in the world in a revolutionary situation.

Second — Official Soviets, the same sources say, have concluded that underdeveloped areas of Asia, Africa and Latin America — independent all too soon — are so unstable that there may be a succession of small wars. The U.S.S.R. itself may be involved in one, just as the Americans now are involved in Vietnam.

Third — The United States is far ahead in experience with guerrilla war, as well as in experimenting with new weapons, new tactics and strategy, new deployment and logistics techniques and the like learned from such developments as Vietnam and the Dominican Republic. The Soviet military has had none of this.

Demand Preparation

The Soviet Union's military men are believed demanding more preparation for what might come. To attempt to deflect this pressure might lead to a situation which could endanger the rule of party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Perhaps, then, it is expedient to bow to military-conservative pressure rather than listen too attentively to demands of a younger generation and a public hungry for more consumer goods.

The government, producing a budget which predicted defense spending at 8 per cent above 1966, pointedly emphasized it also would permit a "further increase" in living standards and that attention still would be given to consumer production.

But the influence of military men is evident in the figures — as are official Soviet worries about what the tumult of war in Vietnam and anti-Sovietism in Red China might bring.

With a public whose hopes had been raised by a decade of stress on a future flourishing economy, refreezing the Cold War will be unpopular. This is all the more true in the light of events in China, upon which many younger generation Soviets look as the real future threat.

And the regime — pulled two ways between the consumer and the military — conservative pressure — will be facing a period of strain.

Caldor Reports Sales, Earnings Hit New Highs

Net earnings and sales of Caldor, Inc., the discount department store chain, for the nine months ended Oct. 31 set all-time record highs for the 15th straight year.

Sales rose to $45,025,274 from $30,867,442 for the same period last year and net earnings increased to $935,841 or 45 cents a share compared to $828,294 or 41 cents a share for the corresponding period last year.

Carl Bennett, president, said Caldor will continue its expansion program next year with the opening of a 100,000 square foot store in Framingham, Mass. in early Spring bringing to 13 the number of discount department stores the company operates. Negotiations are also underway for the opening of two or three others next year, he said.

A local Caldor store is operating on Route 9W.

Entertain Inmates

The spirit of Christmas came to the Ulster County jail Wednesday when under the direction of the Rev. John T. Mulligan, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church, a program of Christmas carols was presented. Arrangements for the program of Christmas music was made by Sheriff William B. Martin who with Warden Carl Cline and deputies on duty assisted in presenting the program. Headed by Father Mulligan and assisted by four Sisters and approximately 40 children from the school the program was presented at 8 p. m. It was the first time this type of Christmas program had been brought to the inmates.

Expert Offers Christmas Tree Fire Safety Hints

Balsam, Douglas fir, Scotch pine and white spruce are the most popular Christmas trees in the East. In the mid-South it's the long-needle pine. Favorites in the West are fir and cypresses. Popularity varies from region to region.

When choosing a Christmas tree, says R. A. Bartlett, president of Bartlett Tree Experts, select it for beauty, fragrance and lasting needles. Balsam and Douglas fir have those qualities. Their dark green, soft-at-tip needles will remain as long as two or three weeks indoors.

Norway Spruce Ideal Outdoors
A Norway spruce makes an ideal outdoor Christmas tree. Indoors it has a tendency to shed rather quickly its dark green, glossy, sharply pointed needles. A white spruce on the other hand is better for indoor use if it is not cut too early in the season. Its bluish-green needles distinguish it from a Norway spruce. Red pine is gaining in popularity but its needles are too soft to hold ornaments well but make good greens for decorations.

Rub a finger across the butt of the tree before buying it. If it's sticky with sap, it's still quite fresh. A stump 6 or 7 inches long will allow stability when the

Carrier Ups Dividend

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Carrier Corp. has announced an increase in its quarterly dividend rate on common stock to 50 cents a share and recommended to stockholders a 2-to-1 split of that stock.

A spokesman for the air-conditioning equipment firm announced those developments Thursday.

This year, Carrier paid quarterly dividends of 40 cents plus a year-end extra of 20 cents. The increase, announced Thursday, is effective with the March 1 quarterly payment to stockholders of record Feb. 15. The company said if the proposed stock split is approved at its annual meeting Feb. 28, the directors would place the new shares on a quarterly dividend basis of 25 cents a share beginning with the June 1 quarterly.

tree is set up and give "drinking" area to soak up water.

When the tree is brought home, cut a diagonal one-inch slice from the stump, and peel back the bark another inch. Now place the tree in a pail of cold water to which you may add a cup of sugar or syrup. Keep the tree outside on the porch or in the garage until Christmas eve, adding water to the pail or sprinkling the branches each day.

Anchor in Sand, Water

When you set up the tree, make sure the stump will continue to take up plenty of moisture. Anchor the tree in a stand or a container filled with sand to which water can be added daily.

Check the needles every day. If they turn brown in the vicinity of Christmas lights, move the lights. If needles begin to drop heavily, take the tree down at once; a dried-out tree is a distinct hazard.

Never place the tree near a fireplace, a smoking stand or where it may block the exit of a room. Make sure the decorations are flameproof or fireproof.

WALKING YULE tree is this pink feathered head-dress by Madi Lanier designed for the holiday. It features shiny ornaments in Helena Rubinstein lipstick colors to put the wearer and the viewer in the mood of the season.

Ripped House Down, Suing Buffalo City

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Robert M. Reinig, charging that his house was torn down without his knowledge, is suing the City of Buffalo for $11,500.

The city claims it couldn't find him. Reinig is a city employee.

Officials of the city's Building and Law departments said they sent a notice to Reinig, directing him either to repair the house, demolish it himself or let the city do it at his expense.

When he failed to respond to the directive in the prescribed time, officials said, the dwelling was torn down.

Reinig maintains they mailed the letters to his old address after he had moved elsewhere in the city.

Last July, he said, he received an order, mailed to his correct address to cut the grass around the house. When he arrived at the site with his lawn mower, he said, he discovered the house had been demolished earlier.

Reinig has been employed as a laboratory assistant by the Buffalo Sewer Authority for the last seven years.

City officials also are looking for some money in the case. They say Reinig owes them $1,045 for leveling the house.

Christmas Spirit Is Toledo Trucker and 'The Right Tree'

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Writer

Of all the Christmas eves I remember, the one that started off the coldest, ended up the warmest.

My Dad put me to work that holiday season. He always believed in work and he wanted me to believe in it, too.

Always a Lesson

Besides, he thought, if anything can temper the easy, hot fudge sundae and double feature of life of a teenager, it's probably work. And, his son might learn a little about himself, people and the elusiveness of a buck.

And that's how I came to be selling Christmas trees in a town in Michigan on my own lot—for his reasons, not mine.

He rented the lot from a friend, helped string the lights, and set me up in business with a truckload of trees, 200 bundles at about $1.50 apiece, a few trees to the bundle—his bargaining, his capital, his optimism, not mine.

Suffering Not His

From then on, the 12-hour days that became nights, the snow, the ice, the freezing rain that broke branches, the tar and pitch that stained hands, the wet shoes and socks, the desperation of unsold trees, these were all mine, not his. Or so I thought.

The first tree I sold was a handsome 12-foot, double-needle balsam. I had to run to the service station next door to get change for a $5 bill, and only charged $1.50. When I told Dad, he just shook his head and mumbled something about 12 "generations of businessmen, and then this."

I learned why later, when I broke open the bundles and displayed the trees. One bundle in maybe three produced a really good tree. Some were so flat they could be nailed to a wall. Most had to be scrapped for branches. I had a lot of extra branches.

One Lovely Week

It took almost three days to create a small forest out of those bundles. For a good week, I was in that forest, desolately alone.

I thought of a dozen escapes. I'd run away. I'd set fire to the trees and join them as smoke. Dad said not to worry, it was early yet. But I went into that week 15 years old and came out 45.

He was right, of course. The next week was like a Cecil B. DeMille epic. My lot looked like Birnam Wood come to Dunsinane. Behind every tree was a customer. I hired two buddies to help. Seeing this, Dad bought another 150 bundles, against my will.

Only the Kids Were Sure

The people were as different as the trees they wanted—an old lady in a chauffeured limousine who bought a mansion-sized tree for $25, a kid who bought a scrap tree for his clubhouse, for a nickel. I spent more than an hour with a fussy, thin man who was buying a tree for a church, and less than five minutes with a family of five because the kids knew what they wanted.

And finally it was Christmas Eve, and I was alone again, and feeling sorry for the few trees that were left. I had cleared more than $300 for more than 190 hours of work. I was cold. Now I wanted to go home and trim our own tree.

And then a big tractor-trailer pulled up in front. The driver was on his way home to Toledo, Ohio, and was afraid the lots would close before he got there. He wanted a tree for youngsters who lived on his block. Their father had been killed in the war, and this was a skinny Christmas for them.

Marathon Broadcast Boosts Toys for Needy

Bill Williams, program director for WKBN, set out today at noon on a 30-hour, one-man broadcasting marathon aimed at promoting "Toys for Tots," a program initiated by the station to provide toys for children of needy families.

According to Williams the program goal is 2,000 toys, to be distributed later by the local Salvation Army. Those wishing to donate new toys are urged to deposit them at the station's headquarters, 601 Broadway. Williams noted several Kingston department stores have already pledged toys for the appeal.

Teenage Cynic

Two weeks in business had made me a cynic. I didn't really believe him. But I told him to take his pick. They wouldn't be worth anything tomorrow. I pointed out a well-shaped balsam, but he chose a scrawny four-footer. Afraid he had misunderstood, I repeated he could have any tree for nothing.

He thought for a moment. No, he'd take the little one, he said. They wouldn't believe he hadn't paid for it anyway, and, he said, they'd think he spent too much if he took the big one. Then he stuck out that big hand, and introduced himself. "If you get to Toledo," he said, "look me up." And he meant it, and the way he said it was like "God bless you."

And he drove off, and I kicked snow on the dead fire, and turned off the lights, and walked home wondering about my doubts, and Christmas, and how cold it was on the desert that other Christmas Eve, and the sudden warmth between strangers.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association has served this county well with funds provided by the annual sale of Christmas Seals. There has been great progress here in the fight against tuberculosis since the organization in 1909 of the original association, the Ulster County Committee for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Today there are fewer cases of tuberculosis, but every case is a public health hazard because untreated TB victims can infect their families, neighbors or co-workers.

The TB Association persists in its fight for complete eradication of tuberculosis and continues to strive to find the unknown cases spreading the disease. Physicians describe as "insidious" because while the symptoms experienced by an active TB case are unspectacular and slowly progressive, the unsuspecting victim is a walking carrier of the infection.

As for other respiratory infections, Christmas Seal agencies direct their attention to such diseases as emphysema, which has grown seven-fold since World War 2 and now is the second largest reason for persons being given Federal disability benefits.

The Ulster County TB and Health Association also provides yearly free Mobil X-ray unit service and X-rays at the clinic of the Ulster County TB Hospital.

The tested techniques and organizational resources that helped control tuberculosis can be applied in the battle against other respiratory diseases if the public continues to give financial support to the Christmas Seals campaign.

These are some of the reasons why Christmas Seal dollars are needed more urgently than ever before. The purchase of Christmas Seals is a sound investment in health. Answer your Christmas Seal letter today.

POSTERITY'S LOSS

The real tragedy of the Italian floods is not that so much of the Western world's heritage of art and literary treasures was swept away or reduced to soggy, useless pulp. It is that so little of it, particularly the written kind, had been recorded on film before it was irretrievably lost.

A fresco must eventually peel, a painting fade, a manuscript crumble. True, with elaborate precautions, men can preserve them, even for many centuries. Yet this is like sealing culture under glass; it represents more a curiosity value than anything else to living men.

The full toll of lost books and manuscripts will never be known. The devastated libraries constituted a vast mine that could have kept generations of scholars busy. Now much of that mine will never be tapped.

Salvage is the foremost concern now, and thousands in this country and other countries are contributing money toward that task. But it is to be hoped that once it is completed, a thorough microfilming project will be undertaken to insure that no future calamity can take the toll that this one did.

THE DRIVING GAME

It is well known that a great many drivers consciously or unconsciously let their aggressive impulses off the leash when they take the wheel. But this does not fully account for the competitive spirit that pervades a heavily traveled street during the morning or evening rush hour.

One factor, clearly, is the urge to get to the job or back home in a hurry. There is something more to it than that, however, many drivers seem to get carried away by the pleasure of using their skill to move ahead in the traffic stream. They rarely stay long in one lane, but weave in and out on the basis of quick decisions; that truck won't have the getaway speed of this car at the stop light, that elderly woman driver will proceed more slowly than the fellow in the left lane. And so on.

The more the game of out-guess-the-other-fellow is played, the more fun it gets to be. The only drawback is that driving really is not a sport. With the pawns weighing a ton or more, too much is at stake to make the game worth the candle. As often

THE NEW UNDERWORLD OF POLITICS

The mystifying thing about present-day politics is that politics per se, no longer counts for very much in this matter of preparing for elections. The probability is that the battle for 1968 is going to be determined in a strange twilight realm that nobody has yet dared to talk about. What the "New Left" is engaged in is a campaign to "unite the Establishment," along with its elected leader, Lyndon Johnson, by innuendo of a sophisticated and often slyly foul nature. The New Left is bringing mental guerilla tactics into political war.

How do you put your finger on it? There is no easily identifiable leader in the movement. Yet the attack takes many forms that interact to create a very palpable and identifiable atmosphere.

There is the button craze, to take it on its most innocent level. You've seen the buttons on student members of the New Left—"Let's Legalize Pot," "Psychedelize Suburbia," "Chaste Makes Waste." These make an atmosphere, vaguely anarchistic, which creates the setting for more direct political jabs. Some of the cleaner political examples read "God Is Alive in the White House," or "LSD, Not LBJ," or "Kill for Peace," or "Draft Beer, Not Students," or "Make Love Not War." All aimed, of course, at Lyndon Johnson and his conduct of U. S. foreign policy.

The button craze is like karate. It turns a strength of the American system — i.e., clever marketing in a free enterprise context — into a weakness. Some buttons are pure — or impure — sex with no political referent. But a majority of them have one ulterior motive, to drive a deep political wedge between the older generation and the draft age population of both voting and soon-to-be-voting age.

Less innocent than the button craze is the widespread whispering campaign that centers on the Warren Report. Lee Harvey Oswald was a self-confessed admirer of Fidel Castro, so if he was the sole agent of the Kennedy assassination the Leftist innuendo peddlers aren't in a position to make capital out of it. But if there were two or more murderers involved, the mischievous imagination can run free.

So the stage is set for the next sneak attack on President Johnson. What if Dallas were a Texas plot? And who were the Texans? Oh, no you can't, you mustn't, say it. But the sub rosa jokesters do say it. They pass it off as a "European" theory of the assassination. But the word gets around in Ivy League America.

And then, all of a sudden, it surfaces in a parody of Shakespeare's "Macbeth." An inordinately clever writer, Barbara Garson, has written a fantasy called "MacBird." There are switches in it — one is dressed as a beatnik, a second is a Negro in the garb of a Black Muslim, a third is an "old leftist" in a workers cap. They are the ineffable chorus that greets MacBird in a hotel room at the Democratic convention, hailing "MacBird, vice-president thou art. All hail, MacBird, that shall be president." Whereupon MacBird, like MacBeth of Scotland, gulps and "seems to fear." He is absorbed in his thoughts as the "witches" go on to stage "MacBird" shall be the mightiest of all. But Ken O'Dunc (get it—Kennedy O'Duncan) alone shall leave an heir" (Bob Ken O'Duncan, of course).

There are enough Shakespearean students left in America to know how Macbeth and Lady Macbeth grabbed off the Scottish crown. So the "MacBird" is obvious. It could be, it could be — but you must only hint it.

"MacBird" is all over the place in printed form, and an off-Broadway production is mentioned. It is worse in its effect than anything ever attributed to Senator Joe McCarthy. But this time the New Left is welcoming its Elizabethan McCarthy, Barbara Garson.

So the web of innuendo is being woven around LBJ. What can ordinary politicians do to combat it? Of what use are John Bailey and his Democratic National Committee in the soiled atmosphere of the present? You don't fight the new spiritual guerillas by the old direct means. LBJ needs someone who is hen to a lot of curious things in order to beat the cats, and he has only twelve months or so in which to find an adviser who makes sense in this new world of the sophisticated smear.

Lung Cancer Signs Vary From Person to Person

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a partially collapsed lung. What would cause this? Will it come back to normal and, if so, will it collapse again?

A—In some persons the small air sacs near the outer surface of the lungs merge to form a thin-walled bleb or bubble. This may burst spontaneously or during a fit of coughing or straining. When this happens some of the air in the lung escapes into the pleural space between the lung and the chest wall. The victim usually feels pain or discomfort in the chest and breathes in short gasps.

Until recently the standard treatment was to allow the victim to rest in bed for a week or 10 days, during which time the lung gradually re-expanded. It has been shown, however, that there is less danger of infection and chronic pleurisy and a quicker recovery if a needle is introduced into the pleural space and the air is slowly withdrawn, allowing the lung to re-expand at once.

In some persons there is a tendency to have recurrences and after about three spontaneous collapses of the lung, an operation to remove the weak spot is advised.

Q—What are the symptoms of lung cancer?

A—The symptoms vary in different persons. There may be a chronic cough, but this could be due to many other causes. That is why, when a person has a cough that persists for three weeks, you should have a chest X-ray. In some persons the first sign is raising a little blood-tinged sputum several times a day. There may be a gradual loss of weight without any other symptoms or there may be a nagging pain in the chest. Pain occurs only when the cancer is encroaching on the pleura as there are no pain nerves in the lung tissue.

Q—Is cancer of the lungs contagious? Can it be cured? If you have it would it help to move to a warm, dry climate?

A—Lung cancer is not contagious. When it is discovered early in its course (usually by X-ray taken in a routine examination) surgical removal will cure it. Climate will not affect it one way or another.

Q—My doctor found that I had a small calcified granuloma in my right and left lung. What does this mean? Can anything be done for it?

A—It sounds bad but it isn't. What you have is a couple of tubercles in your lungs. You can be glad that they have become calcified because that means there is practically no likelihood that they will spread. That is the body's way of combating tuberculosis. No treatment is necessary.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

NORTHEAST THAILAND

(NEA) — The man had been a senior commander in Ho Chi Minh's Communist Lao-tian Front some years back.

"You people don't know how deep our preparations run," he said. "Take this example. About 15 years ago, the Thai police let out the contract for building a border fort in this area. A certain contractor won the bid. He built the fort with 300 men. Two hundred of those workmen were our troops. That is, they were Ho's guerrillas. We know the fort inside out."

"This is the sort of careful planning that has gone into the infiltration of northeast Thailand."

"We've moved at this slowly. For 15 years our men have circled in the northeast. For one thing, we've been looking for poor, unhappy farmers whose ties are closer to Laos than to Thailand. They're most susceptible. We've taken the most promising of these men out, trained them, brought them back to work their own neighborhoods."

A Thai long-time northeast businessman whose job gets him around much of the area — estimate a fourth of the far northeast farmers feel a greater emotional attachment to Laos than to Thailand.

He marks on the map in little circles the areas where the Laos emotional influence is strong. He points out the stage-by-stage growth of the Communist underground in this far northeast Thailand region.

This underground structure he describes has expanded slowly over the past 15 years from the Laos border across most of the northern part of the country. It's been a hop-and-skip growth, jumping from one circled area to the next and spreading like an oil spot out from the heart of each circle.

The former Ho officer says: "Our other major objective was the large Vietnamese community here, the families which moved to northeast Thailand during the war against the French. Most of them have not become part of the Thai community."

The Thai businessman makes another grouping of circles to show where these Vietnamese groups are strongest.

as islands in the circled Communist areas.

The businessman jobs his pencil at the cities. "Much of the business and money lending is controlled by Chinese merchants," he says. "They donate to our civic activities. But their sons go to Red China for schooling. No one knows how they leave Thailand. One day, suddenly a boy is gone. They also send considerable sums of money to Communist China."

"We know there are Peking agents among these Chinese merchants. But we don't know who they are. This Red organizing among the Chinese, too, has gone on for at least a decade."

The Chinese businessmen are all over Thailand. But the Vietnamese emigrants and the people emotionally oriented to Laos are concentrated in the extreme northeast.

So far, underground communism is a critical problem only in this relatively small north-east area.

The Communists are having recruiting troubles as they try to move out of this region into other areas in Thailand.

At sight of him, the landlady burst into tears. "We thought you drowned," she said. Toots Shor permitted Gleason to eat off the cuff, and Gleason signed the restaurateur's name to the tab. He left a small tip one time and said to the waiter: "I'd give you more but you know how cheap Toots is."

Buddy Hackett says that Gleason is "the king of them all." To be sure, Buddy and Jackie have a common problem: fat. Hackett found a Brooklyn scientist who analyzes blood and tells the patient what to eat and what to avoid. Jackie wanted to reduce, but he didn't want to travel to Brooklyn. So he had a local doctor tap him for blood, put it in a vial, and it was sent on the back seat of a luxurious car, with Gleason's driver up front.

The scientist analyzed the blood, and sent a report that Mr. G. should give up eating a whole leg of lamb for lunch, topped with mashed potatoes and a lake of brown gravy. Jackie tossed the report into a solid gold ashcan.

A few weeks later, he was having a midnight snack in a restaurant—like $40 worth of chow mein—when Hackett arrived. "Jackie!" he said. "Look at me. I've lost 35 pounds. And I brought the scientist with me." Mr. Gleason, without looking up from the steaming food, murmured: "Doctor, you're killing this boy."

The comics wore the clock out painting Gleason greater than he is, just as they once made him look bad. They left, and I sat over coffee thinking. Someone sent Gleason a mule parakeet. "Does it speak?" I said. He shrugged. He and the bird stared hard at each other. "They say it can talk," he said. "Let the bird take it from there."

In the grand manner, Gleason ordered 11 frankfurters "with everything." He ate them all, drove back in style, signed the slip for hiring the Cadillac, and added a $5 tip for the driver.

No matter how deep his debts, Jackie always paid. In Asbury Park, he skipped a boarding house one summer day by dropping his luggage out the back window, then walking through

Sees GOP More Interested In '68 Than Current Matters

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Republican governors and leaders in Congress are giving the impression that they are more interested at the moment in selecting a presidential candidate for 1968 than they are in interpreting the will of the people as expressed in the elections last month. Instead of beginning to organize a constructive opposition which will affect the course of legislation in the next two years, they seem to be concerned primarily with evaluating the respective ambitions of potential candidates.

Actually, the Republicans really don't have a united party yet — only a lot of splintered groups. The voting in the recent elections reflected the opposition of the country to many of the things the Johnson administration and the Democratic majority in Congress have been doing in the last two years. But, even so, none of the potential candidates of the Republican party for the presidency has ventured to articulate the wishes of the people and to dedicate himself to the causes which prompted so many millions of people to vote a month ago.

Quiet on Abuses
Thus, for example, not much has been said publicly about the abuse of power by the administration's officials — both in the Department of Justice and in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare — in applying the laws of Congress on the "civil rights" issue. Nor have Republicans analyzed for the people what the continued failure of the administration to approximate a balanced budget can mean to the nation's monetary unit. Yet within the past few weeks the administration has "leaked" hints that it is going to spend many billions more next year than it has in any preceding year.

Certainly the country is concerned about a possible tax increase. Republican leaders, however, haven't joined together to express a viewpoint that would reflect the thinking of the entire nation — which is that it is better for the government to economize than to keep on spending, and that it is better to stimulate the collection of more tax receipts by a sound fiscal policy than it is to raise tax rates and disrupt the economy.

The electorate is just as much worried now as it was a few weeks ago about the behavior of the administration on various issues. But very little has been said here, for instance, about any plan to tackle the crime problem on a nationwide basis. Nor is any comment being offered on legislation that Congress might enact which would make it easier for police officers to detect and apprehend criminals than it is today.

The American people in the recent elections registered protests on many issues, not the least of which was the rising cost-of-living and the depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Unusual Action
It is unusual for a party that gained as many seats in Congress and as many governorships as did the Republicans in the elections last month to spend the 30 days thereafter in relative silence, avoiding outspoken comments on the principal issues of the day.

The "civil rights" controversy, for example, is deep-seated and affects many more millions of voters in the north and west than is generally realized. But the cautious politicians prefer to bypass it. They shy away from telling the people of the many incidents in which abuse of power has occurred. They are not recommending corrective measures that should be taken to prevent a repetition.

It is of less concern now to know who the Republican presidential candidate is going to be in 1968 than what kind of public sentiment can be built up in the next two years by the party itself. There is always talk of unity inside the party out of power, and this doesn't necessarily require the immediate development of alternative programs. Unity, however, comes when common cause is made on the people's grievances and there is general recognition of the weaknesses of an incumbent administration. Hence, it is politically of paramount importance that the electorate be made aware of the true meaning of current policies and legislation.

The comics sat at a front table at Toots Shor's. They were attending a 4 p. m. breakfast, which consists of a Bloody Mary, eggs Benedict, and a Bloody Mary. It was cold out, so they talked of Florida and Jackie Gleason, which are big and warm and expensive; one of which is flat.

I have heard these talks before. The losers always bury Caesar. But not this time. The consensus of the poached eyes and filleted toupees is that Toots is now a genius, to be ranked with Chaplin, W. C. Fields and Laughton. Not long ago, they called the same man a bum, a lush, a flashy slob who was only as funny as his writers.

"Down in Miami," one said, shaking his head, "they're naming streets after Gleason." True, but street names can be named by anyone. Toots, Fat Man has it. He had it when he was 14 years old, standing on a Brooklyn street corner making kids laugh.

As they talked, building the man higher and higher until no one could be that great. I worked over a beef stew and sour rye bread and thought about how funny Mr. G. can be. Greatest is now a gasped. "You don't understand," he said, howling. "He thinks funny." Perhaps. The humor escaped me. When Gleason was broke and out of work, he counted $2 in his pocket. It was not enough on which to eat the way Jackie eats.

He used 10 cents to call a Carey Cadillac, drove in style to 68th St. and 11th Avenue, and pulled up to an Italian hot dog wagon with umbrella. "Name your pleasure," he said gallantly to the chauffeur. The driver studied the skinny lavender frankfurters and the weedy sauerkraut, and said: "No, thanks." In the grand manner, Gleason ordered 11 frankfurters "with everything." He ate them all, drove back in style, signed the slip for hiring the Cadillac, and added a $5 tip for the driver.

No matter how deep his debts, Jackie always paid. In Asbury Park, he skipped a boarding house one summer day by dropping his luggage out the back window, then walking through the lobby in bathing suit and bathrobe. "Nice day for a dip," he said to the landlady. Then he hopped into a car, changed into street clothes, and headed for New York. Weeks later, when he was working, he drove all the way back to pay the board bill.

At sight of him, the landlady burst into tears. "We thought you drowned," she said. Toots Shor permitted Gleason to eat off the cuff, and Gleason signed the restaurateur's name to the tab. He left a small tip one time and said to the waiter: "I'd give you more but you know how cheap Toots is."

I was with him at Sardi's when Gleason wanted Paddy Chayefsky to write a French movie called Gigot. Chayefsky arrived, bearded and harassed, and Jackie Gleason thrust out his hand and found he was shaking a coat hanger. "Sorry," Chayefsky said. "I took my suit to the tailor for pressing. The hanger belongs to me."

Buddy Hackett says that Gleason is "the king of them all." To be sure, Buddy and Jackie have a common problem: fat. Hackett found a Brooklyn scientist who analyzes blood and tells the patient what to eat and what to avoid. Jackie wanted to reduce, but he didn't want to travel to Brooklyn. So he had a local doctor tap him for blood, put it in a vial, and it was sent on the back seat of a luxurious car, with Gleason's driver up front.

The scientist analyzed the blood, and sent a report that Mr. G. should give up eating a whole leg of lamb for lunch, topped with mashed potatoes and a lake of brown gravy. Jackie tossed the report into a solid gold ashcan.

A few weeks later, he was having a midnight snack in a restaurant—like $40 worth of chow mein—when Hackett arrived. "Jackie!" he said. "Look at me. I've lost 35 pounds. And I brought the scientist with me." Mr. Gleason, without looking up from the steaming food, murmured: "Doctor, you're killing this boy."

The comics wore the clock out painting Gleason greater than he is, just as they once made him look bad. They left, and I sat over coffee thinking. Someone sent Gleason a mule parakeet. "Does it speak?" I said. He shrugged. He and the bird stared hard at each other. "They say it can talk," he said. "Let the bird take it from there."

Perennial Dilemma

Report Threats To 3 Airlines After TV Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One reaction to this week's NBC broadcast of "The Doomsday Flight" presents a perennial television dilemma. The show was a routine thriller about a bomb planted by a madman on an airliner.

Three airlines reported that after the broadcast they received anonymous bomb threats. It would be difficult to prove that the program stimulated the threats, but TV programs have had strange effects on some viewers.

Several years ago, for instance, doctors discovered what someone called the "Gunsmoke syndrome." It seemed that many fans of Westerns were trying to outdraw the TV Matt Dillons and a lot of fumbler accidentally shot themselves in the foot.

Too Many Blueprints
It has been written many times that too many TV shows provide a blueprint of crimes for the impressionable or sick-minded. After all these seasons, even a beginner must know about telltale fingerprints but he also must have gotten the message that, in television anyway, crime doesn't pay.

Even so, it seems to this viewer that many programs, including "The FBI" and "Felony Squad," which had the blessings of law enforcement agencies, frequently show criminal acts in too much detail. And it seems that the criminals often are caught by one stroke of official good luck.

Action and excitement are the basic ingredients of so many TV programs, from Westerns to cops-and-robbers. It would be difficult if not impossible to turn out many programs that would appeal to large audiences if all action had to be weighed against the possibility that some deranged person might be stimulated to try to copy them.

NBC planned to go ahead with Sunday night's scheduled broadcast of the Walt Disney hour despite Thursday's death of its celebrated producer-host.

The program, showing the sights of Disneyland, contains more commentary than usual by the quiet-mannered man who created Mickey Mouse.

It is expected that the program will open with a brief tribute to Disney. It was reported that efforts are being made to have the tribute spoken by David Sarnoff, board chairman of NBC's parent Radio Corporation of America or "someone of equal stature."

Danny Going Weekly

Danny Thomas, it was officially confirmed Thursday, will return to weekly television, with an hour show next season. Thomas quit his long-playing situation comedy three years ago when it was in the top 10. He can fill the new program as he chooses with dramatic shows, musicals, comedy or whatever. During the past two seasons his variety specials have pleased the public.

"I have a secret for getting little Freddie to bed. I told him not to!"

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Little by little our taxable brick and stone buildings of Rondout are being demolished. Will this bring our taxes up again? One of my readers brought me a billhead of W. G. Johnston and Bros. Awning makers, "constantly on hand, cotton duck, all numbers, awning furniture; flags and flag poles, sails, tents, etc., furnished to order, 34 Ferry Street, W. G. Johnston and R. H. Johnston, City of Kingston, Rondout, N. Y. 190...." Thus read this illustrated billhead which is about 14 by 8 and a half inches and goes back to the very early 1900's. Those were the days when there was a big boat business in Rondout. Mr. and Mrs. R. G. (Loretta) Johnston, both retired, have a summer home in Sleighsburch overlooking the Rondout Creek and Hudson River, and enjoy the winter in Delray Beach, Fla. Mrs. Johnston just sent me a card from Florida, and wished to be remembered to all her Kingston friends.

Besides the Rondout section of brick and stone structures, which stood some 100 or more years, without sinking like some of those new structures in New York, are being demolished and disappearing. The famous two dollar bill is also vanishing. Many storekeepers and customers did not like the two dollar bill for one reason or another. I was told that the modern cash registers did not even make provision for them. Yet, there are some folks who collect them. Some folks went to the extent of thinking a two dollar bill is unlucky and would tear off one corner to avoid bad luck. The Federal Reserve banks, according to an item in a November 1966 Collectors' News item, found that 20 per cent of its two dollar bills had one corner torn off.

Buffalo Airman Dies, Hurt in Jap Crash

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 21-year-old airman from Buffalo died last Sunday of injuries suffered in an automobile crash the previous night at an Air Force base on the Japanese island of Kyushu, his parents say. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hillyard said Thursday they were told that their son Terence, one of 11 children, was injured fatally when the car in which he was riding struck the concrete base of a lighting standard. Hillyard, an airman first class, had been in Japan for a year. He previously had served as an administrative specialist at Plattsburgh Air Force Base. The family's address here is 50 Euclid Place.

It seems the two dollar bill was also used in the Midwest by horse and mule traders to "bind" a purchase. They also mention that for some reason many two dollar bills were turning up in Boston. Collectors of course look for these two dollar bills. Thus, the magazine article says that the two dollar bill now coins the Gold Certificate, the Silver Certificate, and the National Bank Note. They mention that a full set would consist of only 14 bills. Those who wish to know more about such paper money may visit the coin shows held locally.

Well Dec. 15, 1966 is deadline for paying Kingston Consolidated School taxes for 1966. I am just wondering if the taxes will go up or down for 1967. It is remarkable how the poor little taxpayer, like a little pack-carrying donkey, dragging his heavy load up hill, and at every couple of miles, more is piled on his back. When will it all stop. Newburgh, I see has a Newburgh's Taxpayer's League. Kingston taxes should also be something for 1967, with all the taxpaying buildings being demolished in Rondout, and now they will go uptown. Remember when our aldermen met at 10 one morning to raise their own salary. It was done smoothly and quickly. Four Kingston aldermen voted against the raise, now January 1967, their raises, which they voted for themselves, should make them very happy. How many taxpayers, privately employed, can raise their own salary. It seems those politicians who step into our homes, so politely every two years, and introduce themselves and hand us a little business card with their name and portrait, and ask we vote for them. They bow. They are polite, and will say "Yes" to anything we ask, then out they go, and we never see them again for the coming two years. Perhaps we need a public defender who will attend all these meetings and try to decipher those budgets for us.

Race Rationed Yule

Communist Cuba Classifies Santa Dirty Capitalist

HAVANA (AP) — This sun-baked Caribbean island's eight million inhabitants face a rationed holiday season again this year.

Although there is no official position on the issue, Cuba's Communist regime softpedals the religious observance of Christmas.

Being Erased
Santa Claus is classified as a dirty capitalist and his memory is being erased from the minds of those who remember that he used to bring them gifts on Dec. 25.

The emphasis is on veered fiestas and the Jan. 1 celebration of the eighth anniversary of Fidel Castro's assumption of power.

There will be a few toys, nuts and candy for children and some wine, rum and possibly an extra quota of meat and beans for their parents. But there are indications there will be less than the limited quantities available last year.

All holiday items — food, drink, toys and gifts — are rationed under the Communist system of "equal distribution."

Unreligious
The few holiday decorations in downtown Havana have no religious theme. Few homes show any indication of the day Christians celebrate.

Christmas or New Year's cards feature bells, flowers, country scenes, testaments to Soviet-Cuban friendship and pictures of tourist attractions such as Havana's Morro Castle and its centuries-old cathedral. The government put out a carefully worded statement recently that said, in effect, that only a few toys had been imported because the drop in world sugar prices.

It emphasized that there will be as many toys as last year, but indicated many were locally produced. There will not be as many of the big items such as bicycles, trucks, toy rifles, skates, dolls and carriages.

Supplied Bikes
Czechoslovakia and Poland supplied many bicycles last year. Communist China and the Soviet Union provided a variety of items from dolls to cheap metal guns, toy vehicles, airplanes and dollhouse furniture.

Prices are about the same as last year. Czech bicycles sell for 60 pesos, small table radios for 85, mixers for 65 to 75. A Cuban-made baseball costs 7 pesos; a small fragile doll, 5 to 12 pesos. By official computation the peso is equivalent to $1.

The government is planning a yearend dinner for 50,000 to 100,000 people in Havana's Revolutionary Plaza — at 3 pesos a plate. It has made no announcement so far whether there will be any extra quotas of meat, fowl, rice or beans for the traditional Christmas Eve dinner.

Rasputin Killed Dec. 7, 1916

Controversy Still Raging Around Russia's Mad Monk

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet leaders, preparing for jubilee celebrations of their 50th year in power, are unlikely to mention one man who inadvertently helped the Bolsheviks to take over.

Called Holy Devil

The "Holy Devil" may be remembered by today's Soviet rulers, but probably many in the younger generation would have trouble identifying him.

The evil spell woven by the wild-eyed, bearded Gregor Novikh helped hasten the Bolshevik Revolution on March 1917. He may have helped to trigger it prematurely. Setting the stage for the Bolshevik coup which seized Russia the following November. Perhaps it would have happened that way anyway, perhaps not. But in any case, the assassination of Novikh 50 years ago Saturday set in motion events which have affected history ever since.

Novikh was his real name, but him as Rasputin, a term meaning the equivalent of low-down scoundrel. Nobody ever will know how much he contributed to the swelling anger which brought the storm of revolution to Russia. Rasputin came from Siberia. In European Russia, many believed that people born in Siberia possessed mysterious hypnotic powers.

Spell Over Women

Rasputin had a peculiar talent for casting his spell over women. The pampered gentry of Petrograd—the proud city that had been St. Petersburg and is now Leningrad—heard of him and brought him to the capital in the days before World War I. In a short time, Grand Duke Nicholas introduced him to the imperial court.

Rasputin made the most of the opportunity. He unblushingly flattered Tsarina Alexandra Fyodorovna, comparing her with Catherine the Great. He was aware the empress could dominate the weak and irresolute Tsar Nicholas II, who had ascended the throne in 1894. She endowed Rasputin with enormous influence.

For a while, Rasputin was almost dictator of Russia. The people, knowing the Tsarina's German background, suspected her of plotting with the Holy Devil and muttered angrily of treason in the court.

Russia was at war against a powerful Germany and doing badly. The nation had 14 million under arms, but morale was low. Troops were infected with the same restless spirit of revolt which spread on the home front. The people were disgusted with their rulers. Officers cursed Rasputin as "a drunken, obscene satyr."

The nobility was becoming desperate. Rasputin had to go, but if it depended on the emperor, there was no way to get rid of him.

On Dec. 17, 1916, Rasputin was invited to a magnificent banquet at the palace of Prince Felix Yusupov. There he was lured into the palace garden by Yusupov, Grand Duke Dmitri Pavlovich and others, and assassinated.

It did little good. The tsarina at once turned to another sinister figure who had prospered through Rasputin's influence. At the insistence of the court, Alexander Protopov was named interior minister. The public was outraged.

Protopov, an industrialist and landowner, was widely suspected of contacts with German secret agents. He was fanatically convinced that he had a mission to save Russia, and he concocted all manner of schemes based on total oppression of the people by the dread Okhrana, the secret police. If things had been bad before, they were worse now.

Reds Execute All

All this added to the anger of the people of Petrograd. The anger burst into flame in early March, and shortly after, the tsar and tsarina abdicated. As "citizen and citizeness Romanov" they were executed a year later by the Bolsheviks. So was Protopov.

Russia had its "February Revolution." But perhaps it was too soon, its leaders in a country still at war unprepared to cope with the enormous job of creating a new order. Within eight months that revolution was swept away and the Bolsheviks were in power.

Opposes Proposed Seaway Toll Hike

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A U. S. senator from Indiana says the St. Lawrence Seaway may face "economic suicide" unless its operation is removed from a "financial straitjacket."

Sen. Birch E. Bayh, a Democrat, made that observation Thursday night to members of the Great Lakes Commission at the close of the commission's two-day meeting here.

Bayh said a proposed 10 per cent increase in Seaway tolls could result in financial disaster in its operation.

In terms of cost per bushel of wheat, the Seaway's present toll is about one cent. Bayh said that a 10 per cent rate increase in the shipment of wheat would neutralize the waterway's neutral advantages and force shippers to utilize Gulf ports.

Beautiful Snow —Fluffy, Passive, White, and Deadly

Deceptively innocent looking, like the legendary Lorelei, snow goes on luring men to their doom, season after season.

The occasional devastating avalanche is the most dramatic manifestation of snow's power to do harm. But even more dangerous, the Mid-Hudson Heart Association warns, may be its fluffy white blankets and drifts, lying beautifully passive where they fell on your driveway and walks. Just asking to be shoveled away.

And the middle-aged American male, stirring from his cozy hearth to heft his trusty shovel and have a go at the stuff, may be asking for trouble.

Tests Conducted

Because each season a heavy snowfall is followed by flurries of heart attack deaths due to overexertion, the Minnesota Heart Association's Work Evaluation Unit conducted a three-minute test of the effects of snow shoveling on the heart. Eleven volunteers, ranging in age from 45 to 75, were cleared for the test after preliminary heart examinations. Five of the eleven had recovered from mild heart attacks.

The subjects attacked a thick bank of snow one cold morning—the thermometer registered 14 degrees below zero—with electrodes taped to their chests and connected to tiny radio transmitters in their belts. The strain on their hearts was recorded by an electrocardiograph machine in a nearby building monitored by a group of physicians. Two of the volunteers had to be stopped after one minute because the EGG showed their hearts were not getting enough oxygen.

For men in this age group the Mid-Hudson Heart Association advises:

If you have heart disease, don't shovel snow without your doctor's approval.

Harder When Colder

If you are over 40 and healthy, you may shovel, but take it easy. Snow-shoveling is strenuous exercise, and can kick back at the heart of a person who is unaccustomed to regular physical activity. Cold weather intensifies the strain on the heart.

It's better to shovel before eating or wait an hour after eating, as you should for most vigorous exercise. And don't smoke while working; tobacco causes constriction of the blood vessels, just as cold air does. The combination can be dangerous.

Never shovel to the point of exhaustion. Don't let the invigorating air or a warming shot of whiskey fool you.

Dress warmly in loose, comfortable heavy clothing, muffling ears and throat, keeping hands and feet dry.

Use Legs, Back

When you shovel, lift with your entire body (each shovelful of dry snow weighs four pounds plus the weight of the shovel; wet snow is much heavier). Let your back and leg muscles take some of the strain off your arms. If you become breathless, rest until breathing is easy. If you feel a tightness in the chest, quit.

Last, and probably the best word of advice: hire the neighbors' boy to do the job for you.

NOW the competition is Barracuda.

RECEIVES SCOUT AWARDS—The Ner Tamid, the religious award in scouting, will be presented by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, right, of Agudas Achim to Peter Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miklos Klein, and to John Fodor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fodor, at a special ceremony during the Sabbath services on Dec. 17 at 9:30 a. m. in the synagogue. The Ner Tamid award is a pendant representing the eternal light, that hangs in front of the Holy Ark in every synagogue. This symbol goes back to the seven branched candlestick or menorah described in the Bible. The center light from which the other six were kindled is the ner tamid. The lamp burned continually, symbolizing the Jewish people's eternal devotion to God and His teachings. Peter and John, who are cousins are both members of Troop 9, Boy Scouts of America, whose leaders are William M. Daum and William F. Moser. To earn this award the scouts passed a course of studies prescribed by the Jewish Committee on scouting which consisted of the history of the synagogue, Jewish literature, home observance of the Jewish Faith, World Jewry, and the American-Jewish Community. They had to fulfill a number of service projects for their troop, the synagogue and various charitable organizations. Scouts, Scouters, and the public may attend the services and the ceremony. Ulster Adopts Building Code

There was no opposition Thursday night at the public hearing held at Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, by the Town of Ulster town board prior to adoption of a Building Code ordinance.

The session was attended by a few residents of the town but no opposition to adoption of the State Code was expressed. The board later met and adopted the State Building Code with a few minor changes necessary to apply to local conditions.

The ordinance will become effective Jan. 1, 1967, and a building inspector will be named at the annual organization meeting the town board to administer the new Code.

Adoption of a Building Code will mean that persons purchasing homes in the Town of Ulster as well as builders of new homes will have the protection of having proper materials used in buildings and a good standard of construction guaranteed through application of the standards required under the new Building Code.

Sentence Schenk To 5-Year Term In Bank Robbery

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Computer specialist Werner Schenk was sentenced today to serve five years in prison for robbing two women bank tellers of $25,000 July 29 in suburban Pittsford.

Judge Harold P. Burke of U. S. District Court imposed concurrent sentences of five years each on counts of his conviction. He could have been sentenced to 60 years.

Taken In Parking Lot

Schenk, 34, was convicted a week ago of taking the money from the tellers as they walked from a branch of the Security Trust Co. to a drive-in teller's office in a shopping plaza parking lot.

Schenk, of suburban Greece, still faces state charges of first-degree grand larceny and first-degree robbery in connection with the holdup. No date has been set for trial.

Schenk was indicted by a federal grand jury in August on charges of taking money by force and intimidation, taking it with intent to conceal, concealing or transporting it and jeopardizing the lives of the tellers with a dangerous weapon, a revolver.

Cites Memory Loss

Schenk testified he suffered a partial loss of memory the day of the robbery and did not realize what he had done.

The government and police, claimed he was fully aware of his actions.

They said Schenk reported back to work at the Xerox Corp. Scientific Computer Center after the robbery and later flew to New York City.

After spending the week there, he returned to Rochester and surrendered to an FBI agent on a street corner.

Schenk has been suspended by Xerox, which he joined in October 1965 after working for the Union Carbide Corp. in Oak Ridge, Tenn. He obtained a security clearance in Oak Ridge because his job involved work for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

He is married and the father of three.

Even Bunnies Restless

MOSCOW (AP)—Rabbits grow restless when their cigarettes are late, the official Soviet news agency Tass said today. The restless rabbits have been smoking for five years and are now up to nine cigarettes a day, Tass said.

Scientists in Tbilisi, capital of the Soviet Republic of Georgia, used special masks with cigarettes in them to get the rabbits into the smoking habit. The scientists are studying changes in the respiratory tracts of smokers. No results of the experiment were disclosed.

Says Milk Industry Is 'Whipping Boy'

NEW YORK (AP)—The milk industry has been used as a "whipping boy" in the battle against rising prices, an industry spokesman said today.

Paul Corash, executive director of the Metropolitan Dairy Institute, said that business competition actually has kept milk prices down.

In a prepared statement, he told a legislative committee that the price housewives pay in supermarkets for milk has increased less than the rise in the amount milk dealers must pay farmers for it.

Dairy farmers received an extra 2.6 cents per quart from July to September while the supermarket price rose only 2 cents during that time, he said.

Secret Talks Sparked Action on JFK Book

NEW YORK (AP) — A highly placed official in President John F. Kennedy's administration described today a secret conference which — inadvertently — may have led to Mrs. Kennedy's legal action to block publication of the book about the assassination of her husband.

"The question of a lawsuit was put down as a last resort," the former official said. "It was only mentioned."

Received Word

He said he is sure that the publishers of the book learned of the sense of the meeting. And he said he believes they therefore concluded that they could resist further requests by Mrs. Kennedy for revisions or deletions in the manuscript of William Manchester's book, "Death of a President."

When efforts to compromise failed, he said, Mrs. Kennedy brought the suit. Her attorneys will charge breach of contract, arguing that the Kennedys have not approved the manuscript of the book, as agreed upon in a "memorandum of understanding," signed by Manchester and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Cites Objections

Further, Mrs. Kennedy objects to certain passages in the manuscript describing her emotions and actions in the aftermath of the tragedy in Dallas, one of her friends said.

The former official gave this version of the conference:

It was held last October in Sen. Kennedy's New York City apartment. It lasted five hours.

Mrs. Kennedy did not attend. Sen. Kennedy was present "only a short time."

The meeting was called "because things had reached a difficult state with respect to certain parts of the book. The purpose was to work out compromises on them."

The group included Richard Goodwin, Theodore Sorensen, Pierre Salinger, Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., Burke Marshall, James Greenfield, John Douglas and John Siegenthaler, editor of The Nashville Tennessean.

All of Staff

Except for Siegenthaler, all those present had held important positions in Kennedy's administration. Salinger, former White House press secretary, and Greenfield, former assistant secretary of state, considered the meeting of such importance that they flew to New York from California to attend.

A few of those at the conference had read the whole book. Others had read the parts of it which had come into dispute. "Some of it was read in the meeting."

The ex-official described the book as "beautifully written," adding, "There's a headline in every page."

But, he continued, referring to Manchester's two interviews with Mrs. Kennedy, "It's clear that Manchester took stuff from the tape recorder when Mrs. Kennedy was not in control of her emotions."

"Also, the book is a rather unfortunate picture of President Johnson."

Talked Compromise

Nonetheless, he said, the sense of the meeting was to try to work out compromises on the

'Notice of Alibi' Filed for Accused In Spike Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Attorneys for an itinerant charged with slaying a church civil rights leader filed a notice today contending he was not in Columbus the day of the killing.

The "notice of alibi" was filed after William R. Minor, 23, pleaded innocent to a murder charge in the Oct. 17 bludgeoning slaying of Robert W. Spike, 43.

It contends Minor was in Washington, D. C., the day Spike, a University of Chicago ministry professor, was slain in a guest room at a religious center he had helped dedicate near Ohio State University.

Minor's court-appointed lawyers, George Tyack and Paul Scott, also filed a motion to suppress police evidence on grounds statements were obtained in violation of Minor's constitutional rights.

Police have said Minor "spilled the whole story" after he was arrested in a church burglary and taken to the scene of the Spike slaying.

Hearings on the motions will be set later.

The grand jury which indicted him Monday suggested he is "not presently sane" and recommended a sanity hearing be held, but the alibi notice apparently will be considered before any determination is made of Minor's mental state.

Minor, a wanderer who has lived in West Virginia and Kentucky, has been a patient in mental hospitals in Ohio.

GE Lists Layoffs

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The General Electric Co. announced today that beginning Monday it would start laying off about 1,350 employees in three of its operations.

Gilbert E. Dwyer, manager of relations and utilities operations, said a stretch-out in certain long range defense production orders and sales declines in portions of the national economy had combined to force a reduction in work force.

The cutback will bring General Electric employment in Syracuse to about 16,000.

disputed passages and not to take the case to court.

"Until a couple of weeks ago," he said, "I had the impression that things were getting along pretty well on that. They must have run into a real snag."

He said he felt certain the publishers — Look magazine and Harper & Row book publishers — got wind of the meeting and felt a lawsuit was unlikely. "I'm sure somebody called and told them about it," he said. He did not say who he thought might have leaked the information.

Thursday, an informant who is in the thick of the fight said he had heard indications that Sen. Kennedy may wish to disassociate himself with his sister-in-law's action.

Plans Statement

"Manchester prepared a complete statement telling absolutely everything in complete detail," the source said. "He intends to issue it today. But the lawyers have told him not to, to hold it in reserve. They're getting strong indications that Ken-neddy wants to get out and doesn't think it (the suit) was a good idea to begin with."

An aide to the senator, commenting on the report, said, "There is no conceivable conflict. He doesn't oppose the suit."

The complaint may be filed Saturday, or possibly today, Mrs. Kennedy's lawyer, Simon Rifkind, said.

Rifkind, a former federal judge, said the action is based primarily on the contention that the Kennedys have not approved the manuscript of the book as it stands. One clause in the "memorandum of understanding," says: "The completed manuscript shall be reviewed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the text shall not be published unless and until approved by them."

Reveals Pivot

The question of breach-of-contract with respect to this paragraph may pivot on two communications from Sen. Kennedy.

A central figure in the pending action related this sequence of events with respect to the messages:

In late spring, when a number of revisions of Manchester's manuscript were requested, the author became "very distraught." The source said, "He wondered if the book ever would be published."

Manchester's representatives asked for assurances from Kennedy, and the senator sent a telegram saying the family would not stand in the way of publication. This, the publishers are expected to argue, constituted a release for the book.

But at the end of July or early August, Kennedy sent a second telegram, countermanning the first.

Jackie Could Win

"Since final approval was not given," a lawyer said, "I think there's little doubt that, in a straight breach-of-contract basis, Mrs. Kennedy will win."

Rifkind said the complaint will ask for a temporary injunction against publication of the book and possibly monetary damages. "I don't know for sure," the attorney said. "I just haven't gotten that far yet."

Since Manchester's book relates the events immediately after the assassination, numerous versions of what happened on the flight back to Washington have become current.

Affirms Report

Kenneth P. O'Donnell, appointments secretary to President Kennedy, clarified one. He was asked to comment on the report that he boarded the presidential plane with Mrs. Kennedy and the casket, that he ordered the pilot to take off, and that the then Vice President Johnson countermanded the order.

O'Donnell said: "That's true. I didn't know that he (Johnson) was on the plane. I was under the assumption that he had already left."

The vice presidential jet airplane, identical with the presidential jet, was parked at Love Field, Dallas.

O'Donnell continued, "We had no controversy. . . ."

Jack Valenti, former aide to Johnson, returned to Washington on Air Force 1 and was within sight and hearing of the President virtually all the time.

Was Sad Plane

Valenti said: "I never saw nothing embarrassing. I just know that was a sad airplane."

Malcolm Kilduff, a White House aide under Kennedy, said previously that the 1960 campaign was rehearsed and that incidents took place on the plane, on which he was a passenger, that might prove embarrassing to both the Kennedys and Johnsons.

Kilduff said Thursday he would not disclose the embarrassing incidents. He said he turned down a five-figure offer from a national magazine that wanted his story.

He was asked if there was any acrimony between the Kennedys and the Johnsons over the conflicting orders for the plane to take off. Kilduff said the discussion did not become acrimonious and said this did not figure in his catalogue of embarrassments.

The announcement was made Thursday here by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., who said the Upstate New York city had sought more aid, but added the amount allocated will permit the acquisition of land.

Science Program Viewed by Board

The Elementary Science Program was the educational topic presented at the meeting of Ontario Central School Board this week at West Hurley School. A panel of three elementary teachers—Miss Marcia Landers, Paul Bierwisch and Walter Smith, gave an overview of what is being done in science in the elementary schools of the district.

Miss Landers discussed goals and objectives of the science curriculum and identified concepts, attitudes and skills developed through the teaching of science. In addition to acquisition of science information, she discussed growth of vocabulary, improvement of language skills and opportunity for individual and group work which are part of every science class.

An overview of science content at elementary level was presented by Bierwisch, who discussed sources local curriculum committees use in developing a course of study. The Ontario course he said, is based on recommendation of State Department of Education, prominent authors in elementary science, modern text books and experience of teachers. He stressed that OCS has a spiral science curriculum with similar topics being introduced at each grade level but at increasing levels of complexity. He illustrated this concept by showing how a unit on seeds is developed from grade to grade.

Smith illustrated how a science unit is taught by presenting a condensed unit on sound. He indicated what materials and techniques would be used to motivate the unit, what objectives of the unit would be, procedures for developing concepts and skills, activities children would engage in and evaluation of the unit.

Members of the panel used charts, transparencies, and a variety of science equipment to illustrate their presentation.

Ronald P. Vanni, director of elementary education and Mrs. Ernie Levens, principal at West Hurley School assisted with planning and organization of the program.

Reformed Church Notes Pageantry

Sermon topic by the Rev. Donald E. Hicks at Dutch Reformed Church of Woodstock Sunday at 11 a. m. will be Relative to What? — a critique of the contention that all values are relative. Sunday school meets at 9:15 a. m. to prepare for the Christmas program and Adult Bible Class is also at 9:15.

Sunday at 7 p. m., all departments of the Sunday school will meet in the sanctuary for the Christmas program. All pupils, staff, parents and interested adults are invited to see the Christmas story portrayed in scripture and song in informal pantomime and pageantry. The event should prove educational and entertaining and refreshments will be served. The offering, together with a self-denial joint gift by pupils in lieu of presents, will go to the Brewton Normal School in Alabama.

Methodist Youth Group plans to go caroling Dec. 22 at 7 p. m., with cars leaving the Methodist Church hall at that hour. The group will return to the hall afterwards for hot chocolate.

Dedicate Hymnals Sunday Morning

Some 200 copies of the New Methodist Hymnal will be dedicated at Overlook Methodist Church, with Senior High Youth Group assisting in distributing the hymnals at morning worship hour. On Sunday, also, the Confirmation Class will be received into full membership of the church. Special music will be provided by Senior and Junior Choirs and Mrs. Harry Mirick, flutist with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, will play the prelude.

Sunday at 7:30 p. m., a Christmas program will be presented by the Commission on Education. Directed by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Churchill, the program will include a play by the Junior High class of the church school. Entitled the Real Spirit of Christmas, the play will have in its cast Mark Grazier, Nancy Myer, Sharon Schulz, Beth Fisher and Mark Bailey. Junior and Youth Choirs will sing and white gifts, traditional clothing gifts to a mission center of the Methodist Church in the U.S., will be presented.

Says Conscience Bothered Him, Admits Stabbing

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A 44-year-old man, who says his conscience bothered him, has voluntarily admitted the manner in which, police say, he stabbed his wife to death here last October.

Charles Hawthorne made that statement late Wednesday night "in a state of nervousness and in a cold sweat," according to Deputy Police Chief Edward Cahill.

Didn't Mean It
Cahill said Hawthorne, who the officer said had been advised of his rights after a telephone conversation with his attorney, told police he "had been drinking, we had a quarrel. I didn't mean to kill her. I'm sorry."

A coroner has ruled that Mrs. Mattie Hawthorne, 43, died Oct. 1 of stab wounds through the heart and abdomen.

Shortly after the woman's death, Hawthorne was held as a material witness, but was released two days later. Dist. Atty. Arthur Diarigand said at the time that Hawthorne had made no statement and no information would be filed against him.

Wore No Shoes
At his appearance Thursday before City Court Judge Matthew S. Ognowski, Hawthorne waived a preliminary examination. The distraught man was wearing only a white tee shirt and dark trousers. He was barefoot.

The judge entered a technical plea of innocent for Hawthorne and remanded him to the Oneida County jail in lieu of $5,000 bail to await grand jury action.

Hawthorne has been charged with first-degree manslaughter.

Bishop Departs From Tradition At Installation

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen began his first full day of service today as bishop of the 362,000 Roman Catholics of the Rochester Diocese.

The 72-year-old prelate, whose frequent television appearances have brought him national recognition, was installed Thursday in a ceremony that mingled ancient traditions of the church with recent innovations.

Bishop Sheen, a former auxiliary bishop of the New York Archdiocese and national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, was installed by his superior, Francis Cardinal Spellman.

12-County Diocese

He succeeded Bishop James E. Kearney, 82, who retired after leading the 12-county diocese for 29 of its 98 years of existence.

Bishop George W. Barrett of the Rochester Episcopal Diocese was among 1,000 persons, half of them laymen, who witnessed the installation in the sanctuary of Sacred Heart Cathedral. Other representatives of Protestant and Jewish faiths also attended.

Bishop Sheen, departing from tradition, interrupted the low Mass to exchange the ceremonial kiss of peace with Bishops Kearney and Barrett. The bishop's ring usually is kissed as a symbol of allegiance, but a church spokesman said the substitution was made at Bishop Sheen's request.

Bishop Sheen was escorted to his throne by both Cardinal Spellman and Bishop Kearney. The altar was decorated with flowers given by the Greek Orthodox Church of the Annunciation and its pastor, the Rev. Peter Remoundos.

Four Laymen Assist

Four laymen assisted in the communion, carrying the ciborium, containing the hosts, to Bishop Sheen for his blessing.

English was used throughout the service, except during the final "Te Deum," the Catholic Church's most ancient hymn of Thanksgiving, and during the canons of the Mass.

In his sermon and in an address at an afternoon reception and luncheon, Bishop Sheen also promised his flock a mixture of the traditional and the new as their spiritual leader, saying:

"On the one hand, I shall be a rock... that has stability and immutability about it, carrying on the traditions of the ages. And alongside the rock, we will have the ecumenism moving forward in the world."

He said he hoped to lead them "with a passionless passion and a wild tranquility."

"Rochester, I have no further plans," Bishop Sheen said when asked whether he anticipated any further promotions within the church.

Cardinal Spellman said he had "mixed feelings, joy and sorrow"

PX Alley Thrives, Though Underground

EDITOR'S NOTE — A two-month study by a team of Associated Press reporters led to half a dozen articles in mid-November on theft, bribery, waste, black marketing and currency manipulation sapping the allied war effort in Vietnam. Here is a followup report.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN and FRED S. HOFFMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)

The heat is on riverfront theft rings, black marketing and war profiteering in Saigon, but the crime and pilferage problems of South Vietnam are far from solved.

U.S. and Vietnamese authorities are expanding measures to reduce the drain from these traditional byproducts of war.

In the wake of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's crackdown on corruption last month, the rickety stalls offering vintage champagne, transistor radios and U.S. AID blankets have vanished from PX Alley, around the corner from the U.S. Embassy.

But a whispered order to a sidewalk vendor can still produce contraband goods.

In the joint allied effort to broaden the crackdown:

Gis Checking

—The U.S. military is posting soldiers to check against theft from warehouses through which U.S. economic AID goods — among the most vulnerable pilferage items — pass into the country. While lacking power to arrest Vietnamese civilians, the soldiers can call in police if they see something out of line.

—A new system of harbor patrols, with four-man teams of U.S. and Vietnamese military, customs and police agents manning 25 motor craft, has been instituted to tighten security on the crowded Saigon waterfront, which Premier Ky only a month ago angrily called "a den of thieves." More patrol craft will be needed.

—Documentation of incoming cargo — with Vietnamese checking and Americans confirming the check — has been working more and more effectively, U.S. officials say. And military convoys are beginning to escort some direct economic AID goods.

Aid Staffing Up

—The U.S. Agency for International Development is beefing up a staff of customs officers, auditors and intelligence agents and is running the first trials of a computer system which is supposed to take the guesswork out of keeping track of the movements of goods every step of the way from the United States.

—We're going to have some answers around the first of the year and better answers in the spring," an AID official said.

The General Accounting Office, tough investigative agency for Congress, disclosed it is broadening its surveillance over the way American agencies handle the $25 billion-a-year Vietnam spending program.

Senator Cites AP

Sen. Milton R. Young, senior Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said after an on-the-spot check in Vietnam that the diversion and pilferage situation is improving. The North Dakota senator credited The AP series with helping spark some of the reforms.

Despite the general tightening up, problems of theft and diversion still haunt the country. The black market still flourishes in Da Nang, biggest city in the north. There a buyer can obtain jungle boots, rubber mattresses, mosquito netting and similar items still in short supply for the 66,000 Marines stationed in the area.

TV Sets Traced

During Thanksgiving week, 30 television sets were put on sale at the post exchange in Qui Nhon. Three days later, 26 of them were confiscated from the black market by national police. The serial numbers were traced to South Korean soldiers. Rice continued to be a major point of controversy in the corruption problem.

In the last week of November,

Australian jungle fighters sweeping through Phuoc Tuy Province uncovered a cache of rice similar to the three million pounds seized by the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade on Hal-loween in Tay Ninh Province.

The rice was in machine-stitched bags still bearing the names of American millers in Houston, Tex., and Abbeville, La. Some of the highly polished rice was encased in plastic sacks inside the burlap bags.

Three civilian AID employees who cooperated with The AP team uncovering corruption were called on the carpet by their superiors. Another, who wrote a report saying that American rice was found in Tay Ninh Province, was prevailed on to change his story.

The agency maintains that no one mentioned in The AP series "their stories are being checked has been harassed, but says she said, "mushrooms started exploding through the tar."

Powerful Mushrooms

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Mushrooms bursting their way through a layer of tar are taking over the carport of Mrs. Mary Hall. Mrs. Hall had a tar flooring laid down in the carport at her home in suburban Mill Park here last December. "A few weeks later," she said, "mushrooms started exploding through the tar."

Prices Were Steal

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Prices for men's suits were a steal at up to 50 per cent off in a neighborhood tailor shop.

Detectives raided the shop recently and carted off 500 suits, jackets and overcoats which they said had been stolen. The owner of the shop was charged with receiving stolen goods.

Interest Pushes War Debt Total Past $21 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The World War I debt owed to the United States by 17 nations jumped another $337 million in interest last fiscal year to more than $21 billion.

Only one country — Finland — even made any payments during that time.

Seventeen nations owe the sum almost 50 years after the "war to end all wars."

A new tabulation of World War I debt was prepared by the Treasury Department for the annual report of the secretary early next year. Officials made it available today on request.

It showed the total debt reached $21,028,604,481.26 as of last June 30. Interest accumulating during the fiscal year ending that date was $337,234,964.16.

The rest of the world owes Uncle Sam an additional $19 billion on World War II and post-war debts, not including interest.

If the total of about $40 billion were suddenly paid off, this country could reduce its own national debt from just under $330 billion to about $290 billion.

Three countries have paid off their World War I debts: Cuba, Liberia and Nicaragua. Of the remaining 17 only Finland is current in her payments.

Last fiscal year Finland paid off another $179,000 on outstanding principle and $174,352.50 in interest — a total of $353,352.50.

She still owes $4.9 million. Payments on World War I debts, except from Finland, stopped after a one year moratorium was declared in 1932.

The United States agreed in 1953 that no further payments need be made until final settlement of World War I reparations by Germany, a settlement nowhere in sight at this time with Germany divided.

Great Britain still owes the most on its World War I debt but also has paid more than any other country. Her debt as of June 30 was $9.6 billion. She has repaid about $2 billion on an original loan of $4.8 billion.

Comment on Ties

DETROIT (AP)—Yech! That's the sound heard in millions of homes at Christmas each year when male members of the household get their first glimpse of Yuletide neckties.

This year, the Detroit Free Press has decided to do something about it. The morning newspaper has launched "the great ghastly necktie contest."

The newspaper says it will give a prize to anyone who sends in the most ghastly necktie to Y-E-C-H, Post Office Box 919, Detroit, 48226, with a dime enclosed to cover handling.

Everybody will get another tie in return.

Y-E-C-H?

That stands for "your excruciating cravat horror."

MARK 10th ANNIVERSARY—"We're celebrating our anniversary with gifts for you" is the theme of Ellenville National Bank's 10th Anniversary party which officially opens this week. The financial institution's celebration committee, co-chaired by Albert M. Whittaker and Eleanor Wilkow, are shown adding festive touches to the holiday-anniversary display. Gifts to be awarded during the week of December 19 will include savings accounts, a pedigree puppy, a vacation for two, a television set and a $100 gift certificate. Entry blanks are available at the bank. The awards are open to everyone except employees and officials of the bank and their families. (Saul photo).

Dear Abby . . .

Adults Should Act the 'Part'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are retired. We rented a beautiful apartment (not cheap) which does not rent to couples with small children. That's one of the reasons we took this place. The people directly above us have their grandchildren over three and four afternoons a week. They are three little kids, under six years old, and you never heard such commotion.

They chase each other around knocking things over, screaming and yelling and thumping and bumping. I have pounded my ceiling with a broom handle, and even got out some pots and pans and banged them together to give them a taste of their own medicine, but it didn't help.

I complained to the manager. He told me to talk to the landlord. I talked to the landlord. He told me to complain to the manager. We have a three-year lease and like this apartment. What do we do now?

STUCK DEAR STUCK: The "kids" are under six year old. What's your excuse? Mature, reasonable grown-ups do not "give people a taste of their own medicine" in the manner you describe. Go upstairs, knock on their door and talk with the adults.

DEAR ABBY: A few days ago a girl was standing near me in the hall at school while

I was repeating to some of the guys a poem I'd heard. It was a little, short thing. The girl asked me if I would write it out for her so I did.

Well, the girl's mother got a hold of it in some unintentional way and read it. I guess I should mention, the poem was in rather poor taste. I called the girl the next day, and her mother answered the phone and said I was never to call or see this girl again.

I like this girl a lot and she likes me. We are both very upset over this incident. I called and apologized to the mother, but she won't let us see each other. What should I do?

DEAR DYING: Nothing. Perhaps in time the mother will reconsider and give you another chance, but personally, I think you're dead in that league. There is a good lesson to be learned from this. DON'T put anything in writing that could incriminate or demean you.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. © 1966 by Chicago Trib.-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

VFW Visiting Castle Point

Members of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary motored to Castle Point Hospital Wednesday to bring Christmas cheer to veterans there. With other posts and auxiliaries from the Hudson Valley, the local group sponsored a Christmas bedside bingo and distributed 66 mesh Santas filled with sweets and canteen books made by Saugerties women.

Next Tuesday a return to Castle Point is planned for a hospital-wide Yule party when Santa will personally visit each veteran and distribute gifts and refreshments. Musical entertainment will also be provided by the K-Ray Trio and other groups. The local contingent will leave by bus at 5:15 p. m. Tuesday and all residents of the township are invited to join in a caroling visit with patients. Auxiliary members here will provide some 100 gifts for the event. Others wishing to donate may leave articles at Bosco's Barber Shop. Needed are T-shirts, soaps, shaving lotion, games, Christmas novelties and sweet. Also included in the party will be Vietnamese patients undergoing treatment for injuries at the hospital.

The Auxiliary accepted Mrs. Mary Donlon as a member at a meeting last week and urged residents to write to Richard Gardner, a patient at Albany Veterans Hospital. The group will present a flag to the newly organized Girl Scout Troop of Trinity Church at ceremonies Jan. 4 at 6:30 p. m.

Legion Auxiliary Celebrates Yule

Around a decorated Christmas tree, members of American Legion Auxiliary, Lamoree Hackett Post 72, held their Yule party last week; received gifts from Santa and enjoyed a covered dish supper. Special award of the night was won by Barbara Grace and the fete was arranged by Alice McWeeney, Carrie Kenney and Gladys Amend, of the Christmas committee.

At the regular meeting earlier, with president Catherine Teetsel in charge, the following reports were made by standing committees:

Julia Cox, Cancer Control—90 pounds white material and 16 pounds silk stockings for cancer pads; child welfare toys and children's clothing valued at $67.50.

Charlotte Bell, Community—one member devoted eight hours to the school bond vote.

Ann Johnson, Coupons—met quota, with 3,150.

Catherine Van Gaasbeek reported 62 paid members and 150 inches of publicity in the press. Members voted to purchase a Christmas Seal Bond and to again participate in the Mothers March of Dimes drive. Volunteers are needed to help in the kitchen on the evenings of Dec. 30 and 31 for the Legion New Year's Eve party and dance Dec. 31. 1967 dues are now payable, according to Catherine Van Gaasbeek, membership chairman.

Dear Heloise:
I usually make cookies for the freezer as well as for present consumption when I stir up a batch.

On the dough that I put in the freezer, I take a small slip of paper and write three vital statistics on it before attaching it to my dough package:
1. Greased (or ungreased)
This tells me what I should do with the pan I bake the cookies in.

2. The oven temperature.
3. The length of baking time.
You'd be surprised how many trips to the cook book this saves, and how much faster it is to pop a tray of cookies in the oven for an unexpected caller.

Mrs. John Rowley

Your thinking cap is really on straight!
I've never thought of taking a few extra SECONDS to put this information on the packages, and saving the several MINUTES it would take to look up directions.

And, you're a sugar pie for sharing the hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

You know how the ties on chair pads are forever coming off or getting frayed...

If you buy some shoe laces that match the cover or blend with it and sew these on, you will find that they are much more sturdy and for some reason hardly ever come off.

Mrs. W. E. Liberge

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Too many times, my smartly-coiffured wife has gotten fooled by the shower in the bathroom. It sticks up over the tub, and unless the handle is turned the right way, her hair-do gets sprayed. Ugh!

I smeared some of her "Passionate Red" nail polish on the shower faucet handle—leaving the tub-faucet side of the directional control handle its original chrome.

The red warns her to either turn the handle to the right position—and that I forgot to turn it after my shower—or duck! It works better than a traffic light!

Hob Danforth

Dear Heloise:

To keep young children's clothes clean at mealtime, take a small hand towel, and fasten it around the child's neck with a sweater guard or a pair of plastic clothespins fastened on the ends of a string.

Head Injuries Fatal

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Head injuries suffered Wednesday in an apparent fall down cellar stairs at her home here proved fatal Thursday to a 72-year-old widow.

Mrs. Mary Dimitroff died in Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital. Police said a neighbor found her at the bottom of the stairs Wednesday night.

Her address was 1779 Lockport St.

a job, we will put it off—such as defrosting the refrigerator.

My 10-year-old loves that job and cleaning my cabinets, too. It's something different I guess, from just her same old room-cleaning every day.

On Saturdays, I tell her she doesn't have to clean her room, that I'll do it. Then I give her a different job that I'm tired of doing.

We both have a change, and it works out swell.

Mrs. Mae

Dear Heloise:

When traveling, wrap your bottles—such as hair cream, mouthwash, face cream, body and hand lotions—in good sized pieces of plastic wrap.

It's soft, and clings tightly, and will keep your bottles from touching, and should one break, the plastic wrap will keep the pieces of glass from going all through the traveling bag or suitcase.

Ollie B. Klaver

Dear Heloise:

You know the wire coat hangers with a piece of slotted cardboard on the horizontal wire?

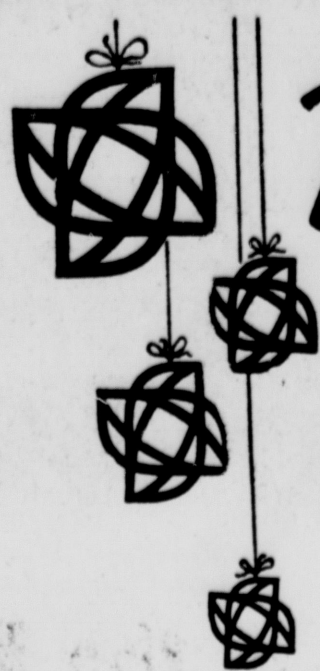

The cardboard that is always slipping off?

Use a stapling machine to keep them on. I find one staple at each end and one in the center are enough.

Presto—makes a good trouser hanger and lasts much longer.

West's Double Sheer Brilliance

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A letter from Toronto reads, in part: "In a recent duplicate almost every North-South pair wound up at four spades. The bidding usually went as I have shown and several West players opened the three of diamonds. After this start the rest of the defense was easy. West would rise with the ace on the first trump lead and give East a diamond ruff. East would lead back a heart and a second diamond ruff would defeat the contract. I was the only man to double and I

Speech Group Elects Officers

At the December meeting of the Mid-Hudson Area Speech and Hearing Association, Fred Maulucci was elected president for the coming year. Maulucci, who is speech therapist for the Board of Cooperative Educational Services, Dutchess County, has previously served as treasurer and vice president.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Natalie Hedberg, vice president; Jerrold Galleher, treasurer; Mrs. Geraldine Brodsky, recording secretary; and Mrs. Virginia Allen, corresponding secretary.

Meetings will be held in each of the five counties represented by the association in January. The next regular membership meeting will be held in March.

am pretty proud of that double in spite of the fact that North, South and my partner all united in criticizing me. What do you think?"

We have seen enough of such Toronto players as Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela to know that some of the best bridge in the world is played there but we did not realize that the average players there were sharp enough to reason out the diamond lead against the four spades contract.

It is very good reasoning indeed. East's raise is obviously based on distribution, not on high cards. Thus he is likely to have a singleton in the diamond suit which both have bid. He is also marked with three trumps so that the diamond opening will produce two ruffs.

As for this West's double we have to consider it as sheer brilliance. He decided to get a top, not just a good score, and he got his top.

On the other hand we must point out something that everyone at the table overlooked. If either North or South had run out to five diamonds (no reason why they should) there would have been no way to defeat that contract assuming that declarer located both the jack of diamonds and queen of clubs.

Hoffman Sees Conservatives as Factor for 1968

"Conservatives in the area are extremely pleased to learn that the Conservative Party of New York State will now occupy Row C on the voting machines in future elections" according to Harry S. Hoffman Jr., Chairman of the Ulster County Conservative Party.

Hoffman was referring to the announcement Thursday by the State Board of Canvass that the official count of the votes in the November 8th election revealed that the Conservative Party outpolled its rival Liberal Party. The positions of political parties on the voting machines in the State are determined by the number of votes obtained by their major candidates in the gubernatorial elections.

More Than Prestige

"Obtaining Row C is not only a prestige victory for the Conservative Party, it is a firm indication that conservative growth in New York State is a real factor in State politics," Hoffman continued. "The fabulous growth of the Conservative Party since its birth just four years ago is proof that the citizens of New York State are anxious to reverse the past liberal trends in State politics. In every statewide election since 1962, at which time the Conservative Party first appeared on the ballot, the Conservative vote has doubled. At the present rate of growth, the Conservative Party will be a dominate factor in the 1968 senatorial election and could be strong enough in 1970 to elect a Conservative Governor," Hoffman said.

When asked if the exceptional growth of the Conservative Party in its four year existence was explainable by the newness of the party and if the party might have reached its ultimate potential, Chairman Hoffman replied, "It is our belief that the reservoir of conservative conviction in the State has just begun to be tapped. We are sure a majority of the voters are conservatively inclined and will vote for Conservative candidates when they are more familiar with our principles. When sufficiently exposed to conservative views, the voters will realize our party principles more closely align to their inherent desires of political representation than any other party in the State."

"The repercussions of our victory," Hoffman continued, "will not only be felt in our State but also have definite national significance. It will be very interesting to observe the impact it has on the New York Liberal Party." It has been reported that there was a difference of opinion within the party as to the advisability of running, for the first time in their history, a separate candidate in lieu of endorsing the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. "A person with a prominent name was selected in the hopes of retaining Row C," Hoffman said. "The gambit failed and those influential Liberals who opposed the illfated tactic will demand changes. Some veteran observers foresee the beginning of the decline of the Liberal Party as a result of this Conservative victory."

Chairman Hoffman said that he also believed that the Conservative victory will influence national politics since the 1968 Republican National convention will realize they will probably forfeit New York State if they nominate a liberal Republican for the presidential candidate. Also, a fact which is equally important, the liberal Republican standard bearer, Senator Javits, who has thrown his hat in the ring for the Vice-Presidency in 1968 in hopes of convincing the convention he can carry New York State for the Republicans in 1968, has not yet been able to obtain a delegate's seat at the State's 1967 Constitutional Convention. He and ex-Senator Keating are believed to have been defeated, as of the present canvass, by two candidates endorsed by the Conservative Party.

Hoffman concluded by saying, "The administration in Albany can no longer ignore the Conservative Party as an insignificant threat to their strangle hold on State politics. They will be forced to recognize the will of the conservative minded voters in New York State and begin to inject some national politics in their administration of our great State."

Eye Cross-Burning

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Gov. Mills E. Godwin, noting that 79 crosses have been burned illegally this year in Virginia, says that law enforcement officials will undertake "a plan of joint action" against them.

Godwin said all information on cross-burnings would be channeled through state police headquarters.

Jersey Price $5.39

NEW YORK (AP) — Dairy farmers in the New York-New Jersey milk shed will receive a uniform farm price of $5.39 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for November milk deliveries.

Dr. A. J. Pollard, the market administrator, announcing the figures Thursday, noted it was the same price paid the previous month and compared to $4.79 per hundredweight in November 1965.

The producer butterfat differential will be computed at the rate of 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard, he said.

Prices were announced earlier than normal this month so producers might get their check

Consumer Restraint Is Key In Slowing U. S. Economy

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Consumer restraint is now playing a powerful role in slowing the American economy. Many purchases are being postponed. Lower-priced items are becoming more attractive.

Developing for Months
This change has been developing undramatically for many months. There have been no statements, no announcements. But the evidence is obvious: There is a growing tendency toward a buyer's rather than a seller's market.

Retail sales during the latest calendar month showed a dip from October figures. The increase in installment credit by consumers has turned lower. Although higher than last year, Christmas sales in some stores are still not as high as had been expected.

Automobile dealers are complaining of lower sales, and all automobile manufacturers have cut back production. Sales of luxury products and big-ticket items are not up to expectations in many areas.

Some of the major appliance manufacturers have scaled down their expectations for 1967 and have, in fact, announced sizable production cutbacks of such items as home laundry equipment and refrigerators.

Furniture Sales Off
Furniture sales are off, related perhaps to the depression in housing. House construction has fallen to one of the lowest rates in many years, the result primarily of high interest rates.

A big exception seems to be color television set sales, which manufacturers say are booming. Even so, one of the major manufacturers has laid off some workers at one plant.

Consumer confidence has been on the wane throughout the year. The highly regarded University of Michigan Consumer Study found that at this time a year ago confidence was at a very high peak. It has dropped steadily since then.

Possible Reasons
Why? Perhaps because of all the cautionary talk of inflation, recession, higher taxes and escalation in Vietnam. Perhaps also it is a straight dollars and cents matter — that the less the consumer has to spend the less confidence he has in spending it.

A study by the National Industrial Conference Board shows that there was very little increase this year in the consumer's discretionary purchasing power; that is, in the amount left over after essentials were paid for.

The board attributed this slow growth to factors such as a decrease in disposable income, tight money, and a speedup in the withholding of personal income taxes.

Reflecting this, consumers increased their installment credit by only $380 million during October — the latest figure — the smallest monthly advance in nearly two years.

A slowdown isn't all bad, however. For a time it might make life a bit less pleasant than before. But a slowdown offers hope in correcting the economic imbalances that have produced pickpocket inflation.

Santa to Tour Wards for Rapid Hose on Sunday

Santa Claus will distribute candy Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Rapid Hose Company Firehouse on Hone Street. He will start his tour of the Seventh and Eighth Wards riding the Rapid Hose Co. fire engine and will be assisted by members of the company.

The annual event is sponsored by the members of Rapid Hose Co. No. 1 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company.

President John Dittus requests that the committee headed by Chairman Robert Hinkley report at the engine house at 1 p. m. to prepare for Santa's Journey.

At the December meeting of the company President Dittus appointed Walter Buboltz, chairman with Fred Crantz and William Mohr, members of the annual banquet committee. The banquet and dance will be held at the Capri 400 Restaurant, Port Ewen, Saturday, Jan. 21 at 7 p. m.

All members of the Company, Ladies Auxiliary and friends are invited to attend. Ticket reservations may be made with members of the committee no later than Monday, Jan. 16.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Dec. 16, the 350th day of 1966. There are 15 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1773, a band of men disguised as Indians boarded the ship Dartmouth in Boston Harbor. They seized 342 chests of tea and tossed them into the sea. The Boston Tea Party, as the incident is known, climaxed Colonists' fight against taxes levied by the British Parliament.

On this date: In 1631, Mt. Vesuvius in Italy erupted taking the lives of some 18,000 persons.

In 1773, German composer Ludwig von Beethoven, was born.

In 1949, Dr. Sukarno was elected the first president of the United States of Indonesia.

In 1951, a plane crashed in Elizabeth, N.J., killing 56 passengers on board. It was the first of three crashes in that city within 58 days. In all, 199 persons lost their lives in the three wrecks.

Ten years ago—Indian Prime Minister Nehru arrived in Washington for four days of conferences with President Dwight D. Eisenhower at the White House.

Five years ago — President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy, on a weekend Latin-American tour, left San Juan and flew off to Caracas, Venezuela, where they were greeted by President Romulo Betancourt and thousands of cheering Venezuelans.

One year ago — The manned Gemini 6 space capsule—which rendezvoused in space the day before with Gemini 7—splashed safely back to earth. The Gemini 7 continued its 14-day mission in space.

Expect Uncertain Conditions To Dampen Christmas Spirit

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is not going to be one of those glistening, joyous Christmases even if the snow flies and warm candles light a thousand windows.

There is too much unfinished business knocking around the edges of the holiday, too much uncertainty, too much uneasiness.

No Real Peace
In the Holy Land itself there is no war, but there is no real peace. There is tension between Jews and Moslems.

There will be 48-hour Christmas and New Year's truces in Vietnam, and President Johnson's administration says it is ready to discuss an extension of the truces.

But the White House has indicated it is not interested in extending a pause in the bombing — as it did last year, with no visible benefit for the American side — without some corresponding action from the other side.

So far there has been none. As of now the prospect is for the same old war between the holidays and afterwards and no sign anywhere that the war is closer to an end than it was last Christmas.

Not a Reality
This makes the favorite holiday phrase, "peace on earth, good will to men" more a wish than a reality.

The Soviets have upped their military spending about 8 per cent, blaming the need for the boost on what they call American aggression in Vietnam, just at a time when American-Soviet relations might have been improving.

The Red Chinese are not a menace yet on a world scale but they are trying hard to be, and soon will be, making present days seem as tranquil and noiseless as the times when man's only weapon was a rock.

In this country the economy seems to be having twitches. Industrial production dropped in November as the output of automobiles, other consumer goods, iron and steel went down.

May Not Know
No one seems to know at this minute whether Johnson — he himself may not know right now — will ask for higher taxes in 1967. Meanwhile, his own popularity, according to the polls, like industrial production is going down.

There is general puzzlement

Poughkeepsie Ruling Shooting Wife Is Family Court Case: Baratta

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)

A county court judge Thursday ordered the case of a man accused of shooting his wife transferred to Dutchess County Family Court.

Judge Raymond C. Baratta said that state laws make no distinction concerning types of assault between spouses and that all such cases should be referred to Family Court.

"The Family Court has the power," he said, "to transfer proceedings to a criminal court, if it concludes that Family Court is not the proper tribunal."

Emile DeFence of Fishkill was charged with first-degree assault, a felony, in the shooting of his wife, Theresa, in their home last July 3. She has since recovered.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Albert M. Rosenblatt argued that a felonious assault should be treated as a criminal act regardless of the relationship of the individuals involved.

Baratta did not transfer the indictment but ordered it held in abeyance pending a ruling from the Family Court.

The Family Court is not empowered to dispense jail or prison sentences or to rule in criminal proceedings. If it finds the case to be a criminal act, it can then transfer the case to a criminal court. All proceedings in Family Court are held in private.

Certify Winners Of Convention's At-Large Seats

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Board of Canvassers says official returns from the Nov. 8 election gave Democrats control of next year's Constitutional Convention, which will rewrite the State Constitution.

Dem Captures 89

The board, which certified election results Thursday said Democrats captured 89 of the 171 convention seats from State Senate districts. Republicans won 82 of these regional contests.

At the same time, candidates with both Democratic and Liberal Party endorsement won 13 of the 15 at-large seats in voting on a statewide basis.

A majority of 94 is required to control the convention. Democrats had a total of 102 and Republicans, some of whom had Conservative endorsement, took 84.

Top Union Head Warns Of Pickets At Addict Center

A top official of New York State Employees Council 50, AFL-CIO, says his union will picket Woodbourne Prison if the prison is converted into a center for dope addicts without the supervision and meaningful security provided by Correction Officers currently working there.

Al Wurf, Executive Director of the union which represents Correction Officers in every state correctional institution, warns that "if there are any moves to transfer or discharge Correction Officers because of this crackpot scheme to turn a well-run institution into a kindergarten for dope addicts, our union will establish picket lines at Woodbourne, which would effectively cut off delivery of most supplies to the prison."

Wurf states the picket lines would operate until "sanity returns to the officials propounding this plan."

He further charged "It is inconceivable that dope addicts be incarcerated and then not have them supervised by trained Correction Officers to prevent their being a threat to the community. It is equally inconceivable that

Police Continue Probe Of Thefts

Local police today continued probe of three overnight thefts in various areas of the city.

Reported entered for the second time in two months was the Ten Grand Tavern, Tenbroeck Avenue and Grand Street, where cigarette and game machines and a juke box were reported broken into and an unknown amount of money was taken.

Entrance was gained by the breaking of a rear window.

A report at 6:50 p. m. Thursday said Bruno's Italian Pastry shop, 185 Abeel Street, was entered while Bruno DeGeorgi, of 156 Hunter Street, its owner, was out to supper. An estimated $25 to $30 was reported taken. Entrance was gained by the breaking a door glass.

An unknown sum was reported taken from a coin slot at the laundromat of the Kingston-Thomson Laundries, 455 Albany Avenue. It was believed to have been taken while the place was still operating.

as the state's crime rate soars, prisoners should be transferred to other already-overcrowded prisons to make way for dope addicts."

NATO Endorses Italian Bid For Soviet Bloc Link

PARIS (AP) — Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization endorsed today an Italian proposal looking to eventual technological and scientific cooperation with nations of the Soviet bloc.

Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani submitted a plan for greater cooperation in this field to narrow the "brain gap" between advanced countries and less-fortunate ones, beginning with "such cooperation in Europe."

Later, he said, technological and scientific assistance should be promoted between the United States and European nations. He then added, according to conference sources: "We can then also attack the problem of the ways and timing which would permit the association in this work of other nations which have attained this developed stage under a system of state economy."

He said this would mean pushing the idea of East-West reconciliation into the technological field.

Fanfani's proposal was carried into the scientific domain the theme of greater East-West cooperation as spelled out in another NATO report, which recommended increased bilateral contacts with the East.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressed America's appreciation to other NATO members for aid they have sent and are planning to send to South Vietnam. Rusk's statement was made public today by American sources.

Rusk said several countries had asked what is most needed in South Vietnam, and the United States has given them a list of Saigon's priority needs. This list includes teachers, medical supplies, agricultural specialists, and various other sorts of nonmilitary help.

Five Face Jury In Jewelry Heist, 2 Are Teeners

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Three men and two teen- aged girls from Buffalo, N.Y., have been ordered held for grand jury action in the burglary of a jewelry store here last week.

The five were bound over for the February term of the Erie County grand jury after a hearing Thursday before Alderman James Hogan, who ordered the five to be held in jail in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

They were identified as Joseph Leabell, 24, Charles Dean, 26, James Gore, 35, Gwen Casthroft, 18, and Kathleen Nedley, 19.

Police said the five smashed a window of the Seymour Jewelry Store last Saturday and ran off with two dozen rings, valued by the store's manager at $2,091.

Leabell gave his address as 64 Purdy St.; Dean, 148 Mulberry St.; Gore, 239 Johnson St.; Miss Casthroft, 233 Eagle St.; and Miss Nedley, 148 Mulberry St.

13,000 GIs Slated for Yule Leave From Ft. Benning Post

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP)—They'll be traveling to Alaska and most intermediate points — these 13,000 GIs in the process of swapping the drab existence of an Army post for the warm, colorful atmosphere of home at Christmas time.

Uncle Sam is playing Santa Claus.

Getting Leaves
Homesick soldiers, in the first few weeks of Army life and for some, the first time away from home for any length of time, are getting Christmas leaves.

Ft. Benning is experiencing one of the largest mass vacation operations ever attempted as the recruits begin Christmas leaves of 10 to 13 days.

The troops began leaving the post Monday by automobile, bus, air and rail. Key figure in the extensively planned travel arrangements was Lt. Col. Edward J. Kelly Jr., assistant chief of staff for supply and logistics.

He began mapping departure plans for the GIs in October. Representatives of bus lines, railroads and airlines conferred with Army officials and the wheels soon were in motion.

Ticket agencies were set up on post, and each soldier selected his own mode of transportation.

Average 12 Days

Leaves average 12 days, and those furthest along in the eight-week basic training period go first and return first.

Buses will transport some of the recruits directly from the post to their home cities. Others are being taken to Atlanta airport, 125 miles away. Those going by train are being taken to the depot in nearby Columbus, Ga.

Families are coming by car to pick up many of the soldiers, and men who reside in the Ft. Benning area are voluntarily remaining on post for routine duties so others may leave.

Greatest number on Christmas leave to any state is 2,629 traveling to Ohio. There will be 1,081 going to Florida, 1,513 to Alabama and 1,686 remaining in Georgia.

One soldier is going by train to Alaska and back in 12 days. One goes to Canada and two to Guatemala.

"Can you imagine what would happen if we just blew a whistle and turned 'em loose?" Col. Kelly asked.

National Group Notes Denial Reasons In Liuni Matter Are Not Standard

To deny the foster parents of 4½ year old Beth St. John permission to adopt her because of differences in national background or physical coloring is contrary to accepted current standards of professional social work practice, Helen E. Cassidy, president of the National Association of Social Workers, said Thursday in a statement issued on behalf of the association's board of directors.

Meeting in New York, the national board of the 46,000 member association noted the public furor growing out of the refusal of the Ulster County Welfare Department to allow Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni of Tilton to adopt the child and the subsequent court action by the Liunis to overrule that decision.

Practice Outmoded

"We recognize that factors other than national origin and the color of hair have been cited as reasons for refusing the adoption," Miss Cassidy said. "Nonetheless, the public should know that the 'matching' of children and adoptive parents is an outmoded and largely discarded concept in professional social work today and should not be a basic, determinant factor in the Liuni case or any other. The basic consideration, in adoption, must always be the welfare of the child — rather than that of the prospective parents."

"Actually, it is the frequent practice in social work agencies today to encourage adoption of children by parents of not only different national, but of different racial background, where the more important ingredients of love and security for the child in the home are assured."

As evidence that professional social work is generally opposed to "matching" as a requirement, or even a desirable goal, in adoption, the NASW board cited the adoption standards of the Child Welfare League of America which are followed by progressive child serving agencies throughout the country.

Among the League's standards pertinent to the Liuni case are these:

No Determining Factor
Physical resemblances between the adoptive parents and the child should not be a determining factor in the selection of a home. In the case of older children, similarity in personality characteristics may help to facilitate the integration of the child into the family. However, the ability of the adoptive parents to accept differences is of greater importance.

The parents selected for a child should generally be within the age range usual for natural parents of a child of that age. As far as can be determined the parents selected should retain the capacities to meet ongoing needs of child rearing. However, a child might be better off with older parents than to have no parents at all.

An agency should consider removal of a child before legal adoption only if circumstances impair his security in the family and jeopardize his physical and emotional development.

The NASW board noted that questions of both mental health and age have been indicated as factors in the Ulster County Welfare Department decision against adoption by the Liunis — and that such considerations are valid questions in professional social work practice. However, public reaction, partial to the Liunis, has been centered largely on the obsolete "matching" practice.

Acting for the association, the NASW Hudson Valley Chapter, which includes Ulster County, has offered the services of a panel of professional social workers to Judge S. J. Connor in evaluating the Liuni case in light of accepted present-day social work practice in foster care and adoption. Judge Connor has been appointed special guardian for Beth St. John by Surrogate Robert Waldron Herzberg in Ulster County Supreme Court, with instructions to make a background report to the court in January, when a decision in the case will be made.

Blast Kills Laborer

KENT, N.Y. (AP)—A 38-year-old farm laborer was killed by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun Thursday night at a migrant labor camp near this community south of Lake Ontario and his wife was charged with second-degree murder, State Police said.

The shooting in the couple's apartment at the Colony labor camp climaxed an argument between Ezra Robinson and his wife, Mamie, 42, troopers said.

Mrs. Robinson was remanded to the Orleans County Jail, pending court action.

Want to Talk Turkey

BOSTON (AP)—Police want to talk turkey with an unidentified man who was frightened off by a security guard while trying to steal an 18-pound turkey recently from a market.

The man dropped the turkey, raced to the front entrance, and ran through three plate glass doors.

Police believe he may have been injured.

Rexford Marine Is Killed in Ambush

REXFORD, N.Y. (AP)—A 21-year-old Marine from this community was killed in an ambush while he was on a patrol Wednesday near Da-Nang in South Vietnam.

He was Cpl. Eric Evans, who enlisted in the Marine Corps three years ago and was sent to the war zone last May. Evans was a graduate of Shenendehowa High, near this community north of Schenectady.

He leaves his widow, Gloria, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Evans.

Italian Guest Views Set Scene In Film Colony

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The lean, long-faced Italian gazed mournfully at the wild scene, film stars and lesser-knowns, dolled up in miniskirts and mod clothes, writhing on the dance floor to the ear-splitting music of a rock 'n' roll combo.

"I can direct better scenes in my films," muttered Michelangelo Antonioni.

The great Italian director was guest of honor this week at a London-style bash given by Vanessa Redgrave and David Hemmings, costars of his first English-language film, "The Blow-up." Antonioni occasionally lapsed into a smile as he met such guests as Rosalind Russell, Natalie Wood, Rock Hudson, Rex Harrison and Warren Beatty.

Worked in England
But most of the evening he viewed the scene dourly, a seems to be his custom. In the quieter surroundings of his hotel suite, he took a dim view of filming outside Italy. He shot "The Blow-up" in England earlier this year.

"Mentally it is difficult to work in England," he said in his halting English. "The system of work is so much different from Italy. I need around me a climate of enthusiasm, and that is not easy to have when you work

Refuse Gotham's Mad Bomber Trial
POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — State psychiatrists and the "Mad Bomber" who terrorized New York City for almost a decade have clashed over his ability to understand charges that would be placed against him in the trial he is seeking.

George Metesky, 63, pleaded Thursday to be released from Mattawan State Hospital so he could return to New York and stand trial on a series of charges, including attempted murder.

But state psychiatrists at a State Supreme Court habeas corpus hearing maintained he does not understand the charges.

Justice Joseph F. Hawkins reserved decision on Metesky's motion. Metesky was rebuffed in a similar proceeding in 1964.

In a studio. It is like working in a bank or office.

"It is impossible to shoot fast allow it. You have the tea break in the morning and in the afternoon the English drink gallons of tea.

"I like to shoot in the streets. But in London you run into problems with Scotland Yard and started filming in Regent Street at 9 in the evening and the police came up and said 'Stop!' I was forced to halt production until 2 in the morning.

"In Italy that would never happen. You would slip some money to the policeman and go on shooting."

Enjoyed Film
Despite these comments, Antonioni admitted he had enjoyed the experience and would even welcome a chance to make a film in Hollywood. He has the germ of an idea for such a movie, he said, but it is little more than that at this time.

How did he fare in his first directorial job in English?

"It was difficult," he admitted. "When you are not working in your native tongue, you feel unsure and you worry that you might get the wrong intonation. But I understand English better than I speak it. When I heard the lines being said, I could tell whether they sounded right or not. And I would change them if they didn't sound right."

$2,500 in Goods Taken From Sears Greenport Store

Merchandise with an estimated value of $2,500 was stolen from the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store at the Simmons Hudson Plaza in Greenport, according to a partial inventory.

Claverack State Police today continued investigation of the burglary which took place sometime between 11 p. m. Wednesday and 3:30 a. m. Thursday when a night patrol of state troopers discovered the front door had been forced open.

BCI Investigator Robert Brenzel of Claverack, who is in charge of the investigation, said the store had been broken into the same way on Dec. 5, but nothing apparently was taken. It was theorized the burglars might have been frightened away on that occasion.

Loot consisted of at least six televisions sets, colored and black-and-white, several portable radios. Investigation indicated that the articles taken from the display area were carried out through a rear door and probably loaded on a truck.

Area residents or passersby who might have heard noises or noticed any trucks or van-type moving in the vicinity of the store are urged to immediately notify state police at Claverack. All information will be kept in the strictest confidence.

Using grenadine syrup as a glaze for baked ham adds a rosy glow. Angostura bitters, used the same way, also adds ruddy color.

Ronan Resigns As Rockefeller's Aide

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—William J. Ronan, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's secretary, has resigned to devote full time to another job he has held, chairman of the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority.

Ronan's resignation Thursday paved the way for the appointment of Alton G. Marshall as chief of the governor's administrative staff.

Marshall In Wings

Rockefeller is expected to name Marshall to the $32,265-a-year post within a week.

In announcing the resignation, which was expected, the governor's office said Ronan would work full time as chairman of Transportation Authority, a post he has held since mid-1965.

Ronan was barred by law from collecting the chairman's $45,000 annual salary as long as he remained on Rockefeller's staff.

In his letter of resignation, Ronan said that he was quitting the secretary's job "to simplify my own living" and to carry forward the work of the transportation agency.

At the same time, he told the governor he expected to continue to be available "as a policy advisor and consultant to you."

Rockefeller accepted the resignation "with great reluctance."

The 54-year-old Ronan, who maintains residences in Manhattan and East Hampton, has held the secretary's job throughout Rockefeller's first two terms in office.

Glennmont Resident Marshall, 45, is a career state employee. He was shifted from the budget division to Rockefeller's staff in 1965 with the title of "executive officer." He has performed many of the secretary's duties.

Traditionally, the secretary's role is to lead the governor's administrative staff and function as an advisor in formulating state programs.

Dem Governors Blame Party Loss On Great Society

By JACK BELL
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — Democratic governors say their party lost the November elections because of a surge against President Johnson's Great Society.

But Democratic state executives who caucused Thursday night at this interim National Governors' Conference vigorously rejected Republican suggestions that Johnson might not run again in 1968 because of his low rating in polls and because the GOP picked up 47 House members, three senators and eight governors in last month's balloting.

See Tough Race

When questioned at length by reporters after the closed Democratic caucus, Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa said that Johnson will face "a very tough race" if the Republicans present a "respectable opponent" against him two years from now.

Hughes conceded under questioning that there was discussion in the closed session of Johnson's personality traits.

There was the feeling, he reported, that the President's Great Society program was moving too fast.

In this respect, Hughes said, most of the Democratic governors felt they had no real communication with the national administration.

He said they were determined to work out at a subsequent caucus during the conference a way so that Great Society programs could be broadened at a "popular level."

Want Broader Role

In addition, he said, the governors want a broader role in shaping national administration policies.

Real Yule Spirit

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Thieves here seem to have the real Christmas spirit.

They recently returned a statue of Joseph from a Nativity scene along with an apologetic note, a box of chocolates and a Christmas card.

The note said the figure was taken only because of "curiosity."

The thieves said they would have returned the statue to its rightful place atop a local mortuary except for one thing — someone had stolen their ladder.

Testimony Ends In Brink Trial

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Testimony has ended in the five-week-long trial of Joel Singer of Montreal, who is charged in the burglary of more than $400,000 from a Brink's Co. office here in October 1965. Onondaga County Court Judge Ormand N. Gale said Thursday he would charge the jurors either today or Monday, depending on the length of summations. Defense attorney Dante M. Seaccia concluded his presentation Thursday. Singer, 23, is charged with first-degree grand larceny and third-degree burglary in the Oct. 23 theft, in which an anti-tank cannon was used to destroy a vault. The jury is comprised of seven men and five women.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST

THANK YOU NOTE
HYPOCRITICAL WHEN VISIT WAS DISASTROUS?

The following letter has been chosen as the most interesting one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Sandra Scheve of Dayton, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband, my two young children and I recently accepted a long-standing invitation to visit one of his college friends. The visit was a disaster. They put us in a filthy guest room with dirty clothes lying around, and no cribs for the babies so that they slept on a mattress on the floor.

Mrs. X, borrowed money from me for groceries and expected us to pay for our own meals and entertainment when we went out. When Mr. X has been in our city on business, we have always wined, dined, transported and otherwise taken care of him at our expense. Mrs. Post, this man has an engineering degree and an excellent job. The problem is not lack of money.

My problem is this. I have not been able to bring myself to write to thank them. I am so angry and upset that I feel it would be hypocritical to do so. Should I write and tell them how I feel in the hope that they would learn from my comments, or should I just say nothing?

Dear Mrs. Scheve: I'm afraid my answer may not be what you wanted to hear, but I feel that an unpleasant situation like this should be minimized, and the action I'm sure you'd like to take would do nothing but magnify it.

You're right, of course. Your hosts did everything wrong. It was inexcusable to put you up in such quarters and to expect you to pay for groceries and meals. However, although they should know this, it is not your place to educate them. Swallow your pride, and to avoid lowering yourself to their standards, write them a short thank-you note. It need not be elaborate, but try to think of something pleasant to mention. Etiquette is mainly an effort to make better relations with others, and since your paths may cross again, it would be well to maintain at least a civil relationship.

A CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR A DOCTOR

Dear Mrs. Post: What would be the correct thing for a single woman to do in regard to a Christmas gift for her physician who is married? Would it be proper to give the doctor and his wife something such as a homemade fruit cake? Several of my friends feel it might give the wrong impression, but I do not agree with this. I would appreciate knowing the correct thing to do.

Miss F.: Dear Miss F.: It wouldn't be right at all for you to give your physician a personal gift, but I can't imagine anyone misinterpreting such a nice gesture as giving him and his wife a fruit cake. Do it, and Merry Christmas!

PRESENT CHANUKAH PROGRAM—Members of NCYS provided the Chanukah program for the Sisterhood of Agudas Achim on the last day of the Feast of Lights. Club members lighted the menorah, chanted the prayers and entertained with a play which told the story of the holiday in an amusing way. The play was written by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport and directed by Mrs. Aaron Klein, chairman of the youth committee. Among those participating are (l-r)

Rabbi Rappaport, Barbara Cohen, Susan Robins, Debbie Present, Iris Werbalowsky and Leah Rappaport. Others in the cast were Stephen Toder, Rosemary Lewis, and Robin Pollack. Mrs. Joel Pollack is program chairman of the Sisterhood. Those who rehearsed but were unable to take part due to illness were Brenda Klein, Toby Brown and Ariene Kushner. City 'Y' Helping Send 'The Worlds Biggest Greeting'

American men and women in uniform, particularly fighting forces in Vietnam, will hear the "worlds biggest Christmas Greeting" aimed at them Christmas Day.

The greeting will come from the Kingston YMCA and 1800 other YMCA's and their five million members in the United States, according to Bob Stubbs, local YMCA executive director here. Cooperating to send the greeting will be the country's radio and television broadcasting industry, the Armed Forces Radio and Television network and the Voice of America.

Dubbed "Operation Merry Christmas", the YMCA is furnishing all three radio stations in Kingston with a special recording of the Christmas message to our fighting forces. Stubbs said. The record is going to every radio and television station in the U.S. as well as the Armed Forces network and the Voice of America, he added.

The record features special arrangements of the traditional carols "We Wish You A Merry Christmas" and "Silent Night" together with a greeting by George E. Gullen Jr., Detroit, president of the Y's National Council. Stations here, and around the world, are being asked to play the one-and-a-half minute recording at 1 p. m., local time, on Christmas Day.

Stubbs explained the idea was conceived by Charles G. Pettit, owner of radio station WRMN in Elgin, Ill. Pettit, an active YMCA volunteer, is chairman of the project. "Operation Merry Christmas" has been endorsed by the National Association of Broadcasters and its president, Vincent T. Wasilewski, Stubbs said.

Although the greeting is being beamed at all American servicemen wherever they may be stationed, our forces in Vietnam come in for a special share, Stubbs said.

"While all our men and women in uniform are making sacrifices in the service of their country, our troops in Vietnam are being called upon for unlimited sacrifice, even to the point of giving up their lives," Stubbs pointed out. "And they are making their commitment with unflinching patience and courage. So for them we ask a special blessing and send a special greeting."

Stubbs said the tradition of YMCA service to our fighting forces dates back to the Civil War, when it was the first civilian organization to work with troops. A forerunner of the present-day mobile canteen was the YMCA "coffee wagon," a huge iron vehicle trundled up to the lines in the Civil War. Coffee, hot chocolate, hot tea, so-lace, help with letter writing and religious tracts, were passed out to the men.

ARTHUR RUBINSTEIN

Claude Montoux Will Present Noted Pianist Artur Rubinstein; Concert on Januray 13

On Friday, Jan. 13, at 9 p. m. in the Newburgh Free Academy, Newburgh, N. Y., Artur Rubinstein will present a recital honoring the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society for their recognition by the Ford Foundation. The Hudson Valley Philharmonic, in its agreement with the Ford Foundation, must raise each year at least $23,000 in funds above the cost of subscription tickets sales. Claude Montoux, Director, Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, communicated this news from the Ford Foundation to Mr. Rubinstein in Paris. Mr. Rubinstein's reply was:

"I am delighted to learn that the Ford Foundation has promised to assist your magnificent effort."

"If you feel that one of my concerts can also be of some help to you, I would be happy to play it."

Through this response, Mr. Montoux and the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society's Central Board were able to present Mr. Rubinstein for one recital in the Hudson Valley. Because Mr. Rubinstein's recital in the Hudson Valley is of such importance and, in fact, his appearances away from and with the largest major orchestras are so rare, the Society has offered first opportunity to purchase seats to its regular series subscribers throughout the Hudson Valley. After December 9, those seats which have not been taken by subscribers will be made available to the public.

Tickets to this rare recital may be obtained by sending a check in the amount of $10 per seat to: Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, Inc., 54 Noxon Street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

LWV Gives New Position Regarding Judicial Branch

Mrs. Kenneth Greenawalt, president of the League of Women Voters of New York State, announced the League's new positions on their recent study of the selection and tenure of judges. The suggestions coming out of this study will be given to the Constitutional Convention for a revision of the Judiciary Article of the State Constitution.

Since 1957 the organization has been in the forefront of the drive for court consolidation and the establishment of strong central administration and fiscal controls for the judicial branch of government and members have continued their interest in improving the courts with this new study.

Mrs. Greenawalt said that a system of merit selection and appointment for judges in all state courts should replace the present partisan election of judges and that new procedures should be established to govern judicial tenure.

The Mature Parent

Who says this isn't a wonderful time to be a woman?

Today if a woman wants to be a wife, mother, and a dynamic person in her own right, she can manage it. For today's homemaker there are jobs to be had, community work to be done, and all kinds of ways available for her to continue her education and her growth as a person.

Today a woman needn't hate her looks. She can change the color of her hair or wear a wig, get her nose bobbed or her face lifted, keep a young figure by joining her husband on the golf course or going to exercise classes, and she doesn't have to yearn to be pretty by conventional standards, because there aren't any. The idea today is to cultivate a "different" or individual look.

Today a woman in good health can stay active and enjoy a good life years and years after women once took to a rocking chair in the home of a son or daughter. Today a woman who doesn't like the way her town or her state or her country is being run, can get out and work for the candidates of her choice, or she can run for office herself.

Today a woman can shift a lot of the back-breaking drudgery that once went with housework to her many labor-saving devices. The energy she saves can be her own to use to enrich her own life and the lives of her family.

Today a woman can speak her mind and know that if she has something sensible to say she won't be marked down as unwomanly for having a mind of her own.

Today a woman can space her family the way she wants to.

Today a woman doesn't have to pay for the rest of her life for a mistake made in her youth, for society has learned to show compassion instead of scorn for the girl in trouble.

If this isn't a good time to be a woman, whenever was there a better time?

TEACHING AID INTRODUCED—Robert Martin, a junior attending State University College, New Paltz, waits to type out answers to be asked by a computer at Yorktown, N. Y., as part of his mathematics studies. Calling the computer by "Data-Phone" is Mrs. Sylvia Wassertheil, assistant professor of mathematics at the New Paltz College. The College introduced the teaching aid this fall and expects to have its own computer next year. Martin is from Stone Ridge.

Distant Computer Teaches New Paltz Math Students; Talk by Typewriter

A computer at Yorktown, New York, is now teaching students at State University College, New Paltz, over telephone lines.

The remote electronic teaching aid went into operation this fall when a "Data-Phone" terminal was installed in the College's Science Building. Though phone lines carry the messages, the student and the computer talk by typewriter instead of by voice.

Seventeen New Paltz students using the computer to supplement lectures in a statistics course, and three professors are working with the electronic processor to develop other courses which the machine will help teach.

By next spring, the College hopes to have a computer of its own connected to four on-campus terminals. It could be used by four students working simultaneously on four different subjects.

A computer is programmed to "converse" with each person individually. It will ask questions and compare the answers given with those programmed into the computer as correct. If the student's answer is accepted—it need not be word for word, but key words must appear—the next in the series of questions is asked. If the student doesn't know the answer, the computer may refer him to another series of questions for additional background—or it may tell him to go home and read his textbook.

Use of the computer gives the instructor more time to help individual students and saves time in classroom question periods covering material which students may already know.

Mrs. Sylvia Wassertheil, assistant professor of mathematics at New Paltz and formerly a statistician with IBM, is in charge of developing the academic side of the computer-assisted instruction.

She said that new course material is being readied for next spring by three professors at the College: Assistant Professor of Biology Arnold Nemerofsky, who is designing a course in Modern Genetics; Dr. John R. Kirk, who is preparing material on Logic, and Assistant Professor Jay Bloom, whose course will be in the economics field.

15th Art Talent Contest for Seniors Set by Federation

The New York Federation of Women's Clubs will sponsor its 15th annual art talent contest for high school seniors during the 1966-67 academic year according to Mrs. Edward Eger, fine arts chairman for the organization.

Students throughout the state are eligible to compete for cash prizes and three major college scholarships, Mrs. Eger said. The scholarships are awarded by Hallmark Cards as part of its continuing sponsorship of the fine arts and grants to young artists.

The competition is open to seniors at public or private schools who will enter college or university in the fall of 1967. Graduating seniors should make every effort, Mrs. Eger said, to enter the contest through an affiliated women's club in their hometown or school district. If that is impossible, entries will be accepted by state officials.

Entry blanks and contest information may be obtained by writing to Mrs. Edward Eger, Fine Arts Chairman, N.Y.F.W.C., 116 Belle Avenue, Syracuse, New York 13205.

A jury of art educators and artists will select individual winners and one New York representative to compete in the national competition held in Kansas City in May, 1967. Hallmark Cards, Inc. will present scholarships of $1,000, $750 and $500 to three artists in the national contest. The awards are for tuition and fees at the college, university, or art school selected by the student.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs and Hallmark have co-sponsored the event since 1953. The competition is endorsed by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Winter Concert Will Be Given Tuesday At J. Watson Bailey

Mary Lou Josefski On Merit List at Keuka College

Miss Mary Lou Josefski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Josefski, 88 Wrentham Street, Kingston, is one of 90 students at Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y., who has been recognized for high scholastic achievement for work completed during the fall quarter. She has been named to the Merit List.

To be named to the Merit List, a student must receive at least a 3.1 grade point average. The Merit List honor for work completed in the fall or winter quarters, is in addition to the Dean's List honor for yearly scholastic achievement.

The 90 students at Keuka named on the Merit List included 35 seniors, 28 juniors, 17 sophomores and 10 freshmen.

Keuka College is a 4-year liberal arts college for women. The 740 students enrolled represent 24 states, the District of Columbia and two foreign countries.

The Role of The School Nurse: Doctor, Mother, Advisor and Promoter of Health

The School Nursing Program, why is it needed and what does it mean to your child.

To many the nurse may seem a school fixture, there only to place band-aids over knees scraped at recess and provide the TLC (Tender Loving Care) of an absent mother. Yet this picture, is at best, a distorted one. The school nurse's story, for like an iceberg, most of the story is hidden from view—although every bit as important.

Begun in 1913 by the New York State Education Department, the program was and is designed to plan the school's entire health program. A child's first introduction comes as he enters Kindergarten and ends when he graduates from senior high school.

Using the child's health record as a guide, the school nurse-teacher helps coordinate a program around the physical education program, attendance program and academic program of the school, so that each is an integral part of the other and each piece dovetails.

Health appraisals are arranged by the school nurse and any suspected abnormal condition reported immediately to the parents. Vision and hearing tests are conducted yearly, regardless if the child appears to be getting the most out of classroom instruction or not. And the physical growth of a student, in pounds and inches, is continually checked from Kindergarten through high school. These findings are recorded by the nurse and become part of each child's permanent health record.

But even this is only a part of the story. Along with first aid and health appraisals, the nurse plays the role of health promoter, playing up the value of good health habits and making such habits a way of life with the students.

She works hard at it as a rule, encouraging families to provide health examinations regularly; scheduling school health appraisals; working with administration heads and pupil personnel services to help the child get the most from the school's health and education benefits.

The nurse is an administrator of annual screening tests; mother to a child with a scraped knee; advisor to all regarding the child's health; and promoter of good health and safety to all in her care.

The purpose of the program was probably best stated by Dr. C. L. Anderson in "School Health Practice": "The healthy, well-educated student in school becomes the effective and happy adult of the community, giving freely of his services and influence to his nation and his neighbors."

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 15—The poverty and hunger that grip so many of the free nations of the world cannot be permanently allayed without sufficient education. It is important not only for children to be taught their letters and their sums, but youngsters must also be kept in school long enough to learn discipline and valuable skills.

School Problems Here at Home
Many authorities on education are disturbed by the lack of progress made in the United States toward bringing equal and adequate education to all of our boys and girls. Earlier this year, Congress was sufficiently impressed to pass legislation providing new aids to education. The drop-out problem has been carefully studied, and the fact emphasized that drop-outs make far less when they go to work than do graduates. . . . and that their learning power, motivation, and adaptability are likely to be sadly lacking.

Long, Hard Road Ahead
Some idea as to the desperateness of the school situation, even in some of the more ambitious free nations, may be gathered from the fact that India expended only the equivalent of $17.6 million on education during the latest year of record. Compare that with our own $39 billion in 1965. For the Indian child, this means a per-pupil outlay of perhaps 32c annually—barely money enough to pay for books and teachers for the few children who actually do get to school! Statistics show too that about 132 million young Indians are not getting any formal education at all. And, all the time, India's population is soaring upward by at least 12 million annually. Some idea of the enormity of the problem may be gained from the knowledge that India's gross national income in 1963 was only $32 billion, less than the United States lays out for education alone.

Knowledge Key to World Future
Now that swift transportation and instant communication have made us one World, whether we like it or not, education for the Free World becomes practically as important to the United States as education for our own people. For what is now "crisis in the developing nations" can become "catastrophe for the Free World" if the more fortunately situated countries do not work to raise the knowledge, skills, and hope of peoples caught in ignorance, want, and despair.

Tragic Comparisons Abroad
The statistics on developing free nations make our worries appear trivial, until we realize that peace and liberty will be ensured for all of us if our brothers in those countries learn to provide for themselves and keep themselves free. Education is the essential lever for this. Yet it is estimated that more than a quarter of a billion children from 5 to 14 years of age in the developing nations of Asia, Africa, and Latin America will not have gone to school at all in 1966. Add to this the bitter fact that about half the adult population in these non-Communist parts of the earth—amounting to nearly 750 million—cannot read or write.

Reports from the United Nations indicate that there has been an increase of approximately 200 million in the total of the world's illiterates in the past six years, probably due mostly to population growth. Even this figure is considered by demographic experts to be optimistic. They point out that struggling countries want to make their educational picture look as bright as possible, so many of the estimates may well be below the actual totals.

Some idea as to the desperateness of the school situation, even in some of the more ambitious free nations, may be gathered from the fact that India expended only the equivalent of $17.6 million on education during the latest year of record. Compare that with our own $39 billion in 1965. For the Indian child, this means a per-pupil outlay of perhaps 32c annually—barely money enough to pay for books and teachers for the few children who actually do get to school!

Two Teams Tie In Bridge Play

Two teams tied with 60 per cent in the Glencliff Bridge Club's fractional point tournament. The winners were Dr. and Mrs. John Olivet of Kingston and Dr. John Constock, Kingston, and Henry Berleth, Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck of Woodland placed third with 57 1/2 per cent. Mrs. Robert Hogan and Mrs. C. Russell Edwards, Kingston, were fourth with 54 per cent.

The monthly Master Point game is scheduled tonight at 7:30 at the Elks Lodge in Kingston. All bridge players are invited.

Locals Register Fourth Victory

By Charles J. Tiano (Freeman Sports Editor)

Ulster Community's basketball varsity threw quantity and quality at Dutchess Community for an impressive 93-59 victory in a Mid-Hudson Conference game Thursday at Poughkeepsie.

Coach Mike Pery's Senators jumped off to a 13-2 lead and it was never a contest, as they racked up their fourth win in five starts.

Ten of the 11 Ulster players hit the scoring column and second string operators played the last 11 minutes of the one-sided contest.

Henderson Hits 16
Stan Henderson led Ulster with 16 points and Tom Shaffer had 13. Brad Meyer and Bill Boines racked up 12 apiece. Boines, a Brooklyn freshman, converted 12 of 13 foul tries for his total.

Pat DeMarco's 14 points led Dutchess and Bill Berrian added 12.

Dutchess managed to creep within 33-21 at the 11-minute mark for its best showing. The locals outshot the home club, 44 per cent to 34, and out-rebounded them, 51 to 24. Boines, Meyer and Zilliox cleaned off 8 rebounds each. Ulster cashed in on 62 per cent of its foul tries (27/43) while Dutchess hit on 13 of 43.

The Senators host Kingsboro Community of Brooklyn Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

New Orleans "11" Cost $8.5 Million

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John W. Mecom Jr. and his associates will cough up $8.5 million for 42 players that 14 National Football League teams don't want, plus more money for salaries, but they stand to gross as much as $3.5 million the first season as owners of the league's New Orleans team.

It took the league 45 days to make up its mind about an owner after awarding the franchise to New Orleans. In the next 45 days Mecom — finally the unanimous choice — must have an organization ready to draft college players and pick veterans. Rozelle said Mecom had asked 19 Louisiana residents to become minority stockholders and Mecom said he may add a few more.

They include jazz trumpeter Al Hirt; Dave Dixon, who started the campaign six years ago to snare a pro team for the city; and C. J. Dejeio, a publisher, and Norman Francis, an educator, both Negroes.

Rozelle confirmed the purchase price as $8.5 million. That will be distributed among all NFL members except Atlanta for the 42 players the New Orleans team will pick in the veteran draft.

Elect Roland Post President Lake Katrine Rod-Gun Club

A former president is the new one at Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club which has unanimously returned Roland Post to office. He succeeds William Meyers, president for the past five years.

Other officers designated at the annual meeting were: William Scott, vice president; Joseph Duncan, treasurer; Craig Plough, recording secretary; Warren Van Kleeck, financial secretary.

Meyers and Peter Lemister Sr. were elected directors. Post has been one of the club's most active members through the years. In addition to being president, he has the proud distinction of winning the first Sportsman of the Year award in 1955. Until recently he was an ardent hunter and still participates in all club ventures.

Plans Improvements
Among the proposed activities for 1967 outlined by Post is the complete renovation of the clubhouse and new sign-in facilities. Work on the projects started last night and will be completed in the near future. It is hoped to have the clubhouse heated for club members use at all times.

Under Meyers' leadership the past five years the Lake Katrine club has become one of the finest in the area. During his regime, the club purchased more land at St. Remy, acquired a clubhouse on its preserve and made several improvements to the club pavilion.

Meyers was named chairman of the annual banquet to be held in February. Assisting him on the committee will be Robert Schmedeke, Edward Sammons and Charles Orr. Reservation cards will be mailed to all members.

Versace Rolls 813 for Record

Phil Versace, Poughkeepsie bowling star, set an all-time Bridge City record, with an 813 series in the Mardi-Bob All Star League Thursday night.

Versace fired games of 289, 245 and 279 to eclipse the former high of 807 rolled by Bill Leete. It is also the highest series ever rolled in the Dutchess-Putnam County Bowling Association.

He had 10 strikes in a row before leaving the 10-pin in the first game. In the second, he ran into an 8-pin tap after 5 in a row and missed the spare. He opened with 9 in a row for the 279 finale.

Suspension of a Highland High School bowler from American Junior Bowling Congress (AJBC) competition is loaded with disturbing implications.

The lad has been suspended for a year because he served as a fill-in for a blind score in an adult league without the written permission of his parents.

The rules say junior bowlers (under 19) can't do that. If they do have parental consent to mingle with the money boys, they automatically forfeit their AJBC eligibility.

Well and good, we say, but if you examine the whole structure of junior athletic eligibility as it pertains to bowling, you'll find it riddled with inconsistency.

Athletic Director Bill Burke was asked about Kingston High School policy on the subject.

"Any boy who participates in an adult league where cash prizes are awarded is not eligible to compete in our Section 9 tournament," said Burke.

The athletic director said the policy did not apply to students in the intra-mural program.

We've long felt that any youngster who competes in a league which pays cash prizes has forfeited his eligibility for high school varsity sports.

Burke pointed out the matter never has come up at Kingston High, but admitted it was a valid point and should be clarified at the next meeting of the Section 9 Athletic Council.

At present the school places the responsibility on the individual boy to maintain his eligibility.

What Others Think:

The two national parent bodies of bowling — WIBC and ABC — delegate the responsibility of protecting eligibility on its member associations. The rule stipulates that youngsters under 19 years of age must have written consent of their parents before they can bowl in an adult league. Their AJBC eligibility is also automatically forfeited when they do.

The Eastern College Athletic Conference ruling on eligibility is not airtight, either. It says in substance:

"Sports such as billiards, bowling, water skiing, surf boarding and the like are not included within the accepted scope of competitive intercollegiate sports. However, the acceptance of a prize or monetary reward in competition in these or comparable sports could affect a student's eligibility, if the value of the prize or the amount of payment is above the $35.00 total."

Golf Interpretation:

In golf, an amateur player is prohibited from accepting money in any amount but may receive merchandise worth not more than $200. A golfer who accepts cash in any amount or merchandise in excess of $200 may lose his amateur status and be classified as a non-amateur. He must apply to the USGA for reinstatement. He does not, as many believe, become a "professional." That classification applies to persons who earn their livelihood through golf.

In the light of prevailing attitudes we think the penalty at Highland was pretty harsh. However, bowling officials were bound by duty to inflict the suspension once the charges were proved beyond doubt.

Reappraisal Is Needed:

We may have old fashioned ideas about amateur standing but feel the crux of the matter remains largely unresolved. We hold that any boy who willfully and knowingly accepts cash rewards in sports competition should not be eligible to participate in college or high school varsity athletics.

It is hoped the Section 9 Council and other scholastic groups in the area do some serious soul searching on the subject.

There may not be too many Olympians in our midst today, but it is hard to forget that one of America's foremost athletes — Big Jim Thorpe — had to return a bushel of Olympic medals because he once accepted payment for playing baseball.

St. Louis Upsets
Celtics, 116-114

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks can hardly expect gentle treatment when they go against the Philadelphia 76ers in tonight's National Basketball Association game, but they at least deserve a thank-you.

Player-coach Richie Guerin won a last-second scoring duel with Celtics' Player-coach Bill Russell Thursday night in leading the Hawks to a 116-114 upset of Boston at Providence, R.I.

The victory was the second for the Hawks over the Celtics in five games this season, and it dropped defending champion Boston 4½ games behind Philadelphia in the NBA's Eastern Division.

The game was the only one Thursday night in the NBA.

Venezuela Presses
Terrorists' Search

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Deploying troops in the capital and the countryside, the Venezuelan government pressed a sweeping hunt for Castroite terrorists today.

The Defense Ministry said its forces killed Hugo Daniel Castillo, a tough, Havana-trained guerrilla leader known as "Comandante Behuma," 128 miles south of Caracas.

In the capital, army troops holding the campus of the Central University arrested the 15-man University Bureau of the Venezuelan Communist party. They rounded up 850 other suspects, including the party's youth leader Juvenio Pulgar, president of the University Federation of Student Centers.

left it Thursday after the discovery of a cache of hundreds of weapons — government officials would not say how many — with defaced serial numbers.

As the widening anti-Communist campaign entered its third day, Deputy Interior Minister Luis Vera Gomez said the partial suspension of constitutional rights was meant to be "as short as possible."

President Raul Leoni ordered the suspension Tuesday in response to an upsurge in terrorist attacks on civilian and military officials and American property.

Troops and police moved into the university, traditionally off limits to them, the next day. The government said it sought "political and common criminals" using the campus as a haven.

The suspension of rights curtails political activity and permits arrests without warrants.

Byrd Estate Set
At $2 Million

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr. left an estate of about $2 million, it was disclosed today in his will filed for probate at the Clarke County clerk's office.

His three sons, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., B. Beverley Byrd and Richard E. Byrd, named co-executors, were left equal shares after a number of other bequests were specified.

The senior senator, who died of a brain tumor at his Rosemont estate on Oct. 20 left bequests of more than $250,000 to eight Virginia institutions and employees in his vast apple industry.

Net value of the estate after state and federal death taxes of about $800,000 and debts and charitable bequests, was estimated at $1.2 million by members of the family.

Rosemont, Byrd's white pillared home commanding a sweep of his orchards against a mountain background, was bequeathed along with its 60 acres to Byrd's youngest son, Richard.

Byrd's nine grandchildren — each son has three children — were awarded $25,000 each in special trusts to be established by their fathers.

Effie Jackson, for 30 years the Byrds' cook at Rosemont, was given $5,000.

Sen. Byrd, who built his estate after quitting school at 15 to save his family's newspaper from bankruptcy, left $50,000 for the employees of H.F. Byrd, Inc., the company covering his apple interests.

$1.2 Million
Airport Grant

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. John Dow, D-N.Y., said today he has received word that the Federal Aviation Agency in Washington has approved a grant of $1,241,850 toward construction of an airport in Sullivan County.

Dow said the county is required to put up $1.2 million in matching funds. The congressman said he understood the airport would be located near Bethel.

$169.7 Million
Asked for Schools
In State Budget

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Education Department will ask Gov. Rockefeller for $169.7 million in additional budget funds, mostly for state aid to public schools, in the next fiscal year.

The department's proposed budget, totaling $1.68 billion, was approved by the State Board of Regents at the board's monthly meeting today.

Part Mandated

The department pointed out that $146 million of the requested increase was mandated by existing law. The formula apportioning state aid to the public schools will require $140 million more than the $1.36 billion being spent for this purpose in the current fiscal year.

Among other increases the department and the Regents agreed to request are:

— $4 million in funds to help local school districts with expenses they might incur in trying to correct racial imbalances in the schools. The department was given $1 million for this purpose in the current budget.

— $4.5 million for experimental programs designed to improve the quality of education and to promote greater efficiency in the public schools. The department had $500,000 for that purpose in the current budget.

For Fellowships

— $5.7 million for a new program that would provide special training grants and fellowships in the health professions. Gov. Rockefeller had asked the department to develop such a program to help meet a growing shortage of nurses.

— $167,200 to set up a "teachers' reserve," a special unit that would contact teachers who have left the profession and encourage them to return. The unit would offer to bring the teachers up to date academically and would help those whose academic qualifications fall short.

Rocky, SIC Will Study Charges on Gotham Hospitals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will meet shortly with the State Investigation Commission (SIC) to study charges that city hospitals have frittered away more than $100 million in public funds.

Rockefeller announced the conference Thursday after receiving a 62-page report from State Sen. Seymour Thaler, D-Queens. It asserted documents accusations of swollen payrolls, misuse of equipment and other abuses.

Wait Separate Probe
With Thaler and the governor was Jacob Grumet, SIC chairman. He said "the charges should be investigated," but indicated he planned to wait for the outcome of a separate inquiry by City Comptroller Mario Procaccino before taking further action.

Grumet said evidence he has received so far suggested "very serious abuses."

Thaler, ranking minority member of the Joint Legislative Committee on Public Health and Medicare, centered his attack on the four-year-old program of affiliations between city and voluntary hospitals.

In general, he said, costs at affiliated hospitals now exceed what they had been in the city hospitals before affiliation or what they continue to be at the voluntary hospitals involved.

Recalls Only Half
At Coney Island Hospital, affiliated with Maimonides Hospital, Thaler said the chief of surgery could recall only half the names of the surgeons he has on his staff.

"He admitted that the director of surgery (whose salary is $37,500, 10 per cent of which is charged to the affiliation contract) had only visited the hospital three times during the past year—each time ostensibly to discuss 'research programs,'" Thaler said.

"I've never said larceny was involved," he declared. "But, there are members of the medical profession who have treated the City of New York and hospital patients as if they were bonanzas for the doctors' enrichment."

mately $130,000 greater than last year.

Cost of Permanent Personal registration increased the Board of Elections requirements by approximately $100,000 and the Ulster County Highway Department requirements are up about $108,000.

Two-way radio equipment of the Fire Coordinator fund is up about $22,000 and the sheriff's needs call for $21,000 more than last year.

Another cause of the increase in the county budget is an across the board wage raise of $240 for all county employees, except those who are working on an hourly schedule.

The final draft of the 1967 budget was prepared Thursday after a final meeting of the Budget Committee. Prior to that revision it had been anticipated the money to be raised by local real estate tax might run close to $1,000,000 more than 1966 but sources of additional revenue and surplus money makes possible only slightly over a half million increase.

Garraghan Hopes

2 per cent payroll tax, in March. I asked the Board of Supervisors to adopt a hotel-motel tax nothing doing on either. I know new taxes are distasteful but real estate can no longer be the principal source of revenue.

"Now, citizens in Ulster County—'Wake Up,' throw some cold water on your face. If taxes other than real estate are not adopted by the Board of Supervisors, no person will want to live in Ulster County."

"It will be land for the woodchucks and crows. I doubt very much if the Indians would retake it."

"The county budget hearing is Monday, Dec. 19 at 7 p. m. If there isn't room in the Board of Supervisors chamber I will gladly lend them use the auditorium on Broadway, as a minimum of 3,000 people should attend. If less than that number are in attendance at the hearing it will prove the apathy of the citizens of Ulster County. I am not going to worry about them."

Gorton Recuperates At Albany VA

Police Lt. Leo T. Gordon of Ellenville, who was injured the night of July 21 in a two-car collision on the Greenfield Road (Route 52) is still recuperating at Veterans Hospital in Albany, where he was transferred from Vassar Hospital, according to reports today.

Lt. Gordon, accompanied by Patrolman Leonard Quick were riding in a police car when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Benjamin Hill of Slate Hill. He has not been determined who was operating the police car at the time of the crash which occurred near the Stockeek property near Ellenville.

Officer Quick, according to reports from Ellenville recovering from injuries he suffered in the mishap, and is expected to return to active duty soon.

Lt. Gordon suffered severe head injuries.

Council Approves

and 10; Dist. 3, would be composed of wards Three and Four, and District 4, of wards Five, Six, Seven, Eight, Nine and 13. The report on each district showed population deviations from that was listed as the "ideal" or desired population of 7,290. Deviations ranged from 102 in the First District to 926 in the Second and Third.

Under the B plan, Ward 11 would be the same, 12 would be cut in two, in One, 1,200 would be added from the Second, Two would also lose 600 to the 10th. Ward Three would lose 1,500 to Ward Eight and similar changes would be made in the other wards to reach a total of 12.

Consideration Later
Alderman Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward, noted that the downtown ward, as it now exists as of Jan. 1, 1968, will have no alderman until after completion of the 1967 census. The ward, which has lost heavily in population because of urban renewal, is expected to be given new consideration, after completion of urban renewal there and the next census.

Cites Court Decisions
During discussion of whether reapportionment should be based on "unofficial" head counts or the 1960 census, Alderman Raymond Armatte cited court decisions upholding the latter. He felt that the plan, as approved last night, involved some party line crossing in the shifting of the voting population.

Changes, as approved are subject to public hearing and to approval by the New York State Supreme Court, but in acting last night, the aldermen have something on record before the Dec. 31 deadline fixed by the court.

Action by the Board of Supervisors on reapportionment in county voting districts is due Monday night. The county plan generally calls for 12 legislative subdivisions, but is to retain 33 board members.

The approved local law dealing with a tax cut for senior citizens provides that taxpayers who are 65 years old, or older may, after Jan. 1, if they earn $3,000 a year, or less, claim a 50 per cent tax reduction.

As noted in the committee report approved last night the proposed new health plan for city employees is based on the state-approved Blue Cross-Blue Shield, and Major Metropolitan Life health plans. It is planned to include in the 1967 budget a sum sufficient to implement the plan.

The council again recessed subject to the call of Alderman-at-Large Koenig, and it is expected that the next meeting will not be called until after Christmas.

Affirms Dems . . .
that the GOP might promote a court suit to compel election boards to tabulate the fallen stickers in hopes that the recount might improve the party's showing in the at-large contests.

Thursdays, however, Spad said: "At this point, there appears to be nothing that the party can do or I can do, but there is still the possibility that an aggrieved candidate or citizen might wish to sue."

The majority control of the convention hinged on the 15 at-large seats, which were selected on a statewide basis. The 13 Democrats ran with Liberal party endorsement and the two victorious Republicans had Conservative party backing.

Javits, Keating Lost
Significantly, two Republicans who lost, U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits and former U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, usually are powerful voter-getters. The two GOP Conservative candidates who won at large seats, C. Moore of Indian Lake and William E. Bensley of Springville, president of the state Farm Bureau.

Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City headed the list of successful Democrats.

Other official returns certified that: — A total of 6,159,578 votes were cast in statewide contests, a record for a gubernatorial election.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller won re-election by a plurality of 392,263 votes over Democrat Frank D. O'Connor, who polled a total of 2,298,363.

— The Conservative party gained 510,023 votes in the gubernatorial race, nearly 3,000 more than the Liberal party. This means the Conservative party will be given the third line on the next statewide election ballot, moving up from row D to replace the Liberals in row C.

— Socialist Labor Party candidate Milton Herder received 12,730 votes and Socialist Worker nominee Judith White polled 12,506 votes in the gubernatorial race.

Teamsters Start Return to Work

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters began returning to work today after a 24-hour walkout protesting a U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the 1964 jury tampering conviction of their unions international president James R. Hoffa. Hoffa had urged his men to go back to work.

A sampling of Detroit firms showed that 75 to 100 per cent of over-the-road, long-distance drivers had reported to work beginning with the midnight shift.

Hoffa flew into Detroit Thursday and ordered the Teamsters back to work. However, the 24-hour strike had been called at midnight Wednesday and was well under way.

It was early afternoon before Hoffa told some 1,200 cheering Teamsters here to go back to work. Few, if any, returned before midnight.

"Don't take the law in your own hands or you are going to hurt me," Hoffa told the workers at a hastily summoned meeting.

The strike developed Wednesday night at a meeting of Hoffa's home local, No. 299. The action quickly spread to other locals, with a total membership of approximately 70,000.

A few walkouts were reported at other points in Michigan and across the nation. Mostly long-distance drivers stayed away from work, along with dock workers.

"You took this action out of the emotions of your hearts," Hoffa said during a 1-hour, 10-minute speech.

"In the name of Jimmy Hoffa," he said at the end, "return to work as quickly as possible. Don't even take a vote. Just go back. Thanks and please return to work."

Hoffa had flown to Detroit from Chicago where he attended a union business meeting.

He faces an eight-year prison term under his conviction at Chattanooga, Tenn., on charges of tampering with a jury which deadlocked in Nashville, Tenn., in trying him on a conspiracy charge.

President Notes
wounded in Vietnam who had come from nearby hospitals as guests of Mrs. Johnson for a White House tour, the President said:

Long, Difficult Days
"I wish I could tell you that what you fought for, peace in the world, is just around the corner, but there will be some long and difficult days ahead. I wish I could tell you that judgments and understanding."

A soldier's last letter home provided the text for this presidential talk. It was written by Army Lt. John F. Cochran to his wife Elaine and other folks at Highland, Calif. He died in action and was buried Nov. 2 in Arlington National Cemetery.

Writing by the light of a shaded electric lantern on a hilltop as he awaited a visit from the Viet Cong, Cochran asked himself why he was there and concluded that it was because he asked to be there.

Basic Principles Enough
The lieutenant said: "I know why I am here and why I couldn't be any other place. The reason is because I do believe that principle, basic principles are enough for a man to die for."

Later on the ellipse behind the White House the President flipped a switch and lighted the fir from California's Sierras. The tree pointed a slender spire of red and yellow lights toward a crescent moon. The choir sang "Alleluiah."

Denies Planes

surface-to-air missiles or anti-aircraft shells.

Hanoi is riddled with SAM sites, officials told newsmen, although none is inside the city limits. There are dozens of anti-aircraft units scattered throughout the city.

American officials went into unusual detail to describe the bombing missions Tuesday and Wednesday.

The administration has refused in the past to do more than denounce as propaganda similar Communist charges of bombings against civilians.

Officials refused to say how many American planes were involved in the attacks or if U.S. planes had flown over the center of the city on earlier raids.

They explained that the targets were the same on both Tuesday and Wednesday. The second raid was needed, they added, because not all of the targets were destroyed Tuesday.

Saloon spokesman announced earlier that three U.S. planes were lost in the raids, one of them shot down by a missile-firing MIG. More than 20 MIGs reportedly were encountered during the raids, Hanoi officials said.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market cut its loss a bit in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Losers still outnumbered gains but the margin had narrowed.

The downturn got under way Thursday.

Mail order-retails, farm implements, oils, tobaccos and drugs declined. Aircrafts, electronics and nonferrous metals were mostly lower.

Changes of most key issues were fractional with a few reaching a point or so.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had lost .6 to 296.0 with industrials off 1.3, rails off .3 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 1.22 at 807.96.

Sears, Roebuck lost 1/4 at 47 1/2 on a block of 12,000 shares and Motorola declined 2 1/4 to 101 on a block of 10,000 shares.

Steels were mixed with U.S. Steel and Republic showing fractional gains and Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin up slightly.

General Motors advanced nearly a point and Chrysler was up by a small fraction.

In the electronics group, Raytheon gained almost a point and RCA and Sperry Rand added small fractions.

IBM shaved a 3-point loss to less than a point.

Proposed Amendment No. 5—Embodying the Legislature to increase the pension of a widow or a retired member of the State Teachers Retirement System, or its subdivisions. The vote was 2,228,190 "yes"; 1,516,233 "no."

Proposed Amendment No. 6—Establishing a three-months residency requirement for voters in the state and in counties, cities or villages. The vote was 2,370,919 "yes"; 1,354,807 "no." The new procedure eliminates the existing 90-day waiting period imposed on naturalized citizens.

Proposed Amendment No. 8—Permitting a would-be voter to register to vote, even though he or she may be required for personal or business reasons to be out of the county at registration time. Such registration previously was permitted only for those required to be out of the state. The vote was 2,451,834 "yes"; 1,202,983 "no."

Proposed Amendment No. 11—Authorizing designation of retired Supreme Court justices for service on the Appellate Division, provided that these judges had served on the Appellate Division immediately before their retirement. The vote was 1,801,288 "yes"; 1,727,722 "no."

Defeated Proposals
The following proposals were defeated:

Proposed Amendment No. 1—To authorize the state to raise from the current $50-million level to $75 million the ceiling on the amount of bonds the state will guarantee for the State Job Development Authority. The vote was 1,904,285 "no"; 1,854,074 "yes."

Proposed Amendment No. 3—To authorize the Legislature to permit municipalities to shoulder a larger burden of debt for construction of public housing and urban renewal projects. The vote was 2,055,195 "no"; 1,666,381 "yes." The outcome reflected the voters' distaste, expressed in recent years, for proposals to widen government's role in financing of public housing projects.

Proposed Amendment No. 9—To permit the voters of Buffalo to decide whether the school district of that city should be given fiscal independence—taxing and borrowing powers separate from those of the municipal government. The vote was 1,995,523 "no"; 1,505,396 "yes."

Proposed Amendment No. 1—To permit retired judges of the Court of Appeals—those age 70 and older—to be designated by that court, the state's highest, to return to the court, if needed, for three additional terms of two years, each. The vote was 1,783,697 "no"; 1,777,447 "yes."

Red China Wins Round in Demand On Macao Colony

MACAO (AP) — Chinese Communists won another round today in their campaign to dominate the tiny Portuguese colony of Macao.

Portuguese and Chinese sources said Gov. Jose Nobre de Carvalho had delivered to Communist leaders his formal written acceptance of all demands made by the Communists after they threw the six-square-mile enclave on the South China Coast into turmoil two weeks ago.

Eight Chinese were reported killed and more than 100 wounded when Portuguese police and troops tried to stop the riots.

One of the Communist demands, made by the Foreign Affairs Bureau of Red China's Kwangtung province, included severe punishment for Portuguese officials who commanded the troops and police.

The Communist also demanded a pledge that Macao police and troops will never again use guns or clubs against Chinese, a pledge that many Portuguese residents believe virtually eliminates effective Portuguese control of the colony.

Four Chinese gunboats began patrolling just off the Macao harbor, and the governor reportedly signed a written acceptance of the demands and sent it to the Red leaders.

Walt Disney's of the Arts, a college for studies in art and music. It is under construction on the Disney ranch in the San Fernando Valley.

The producer was up and around for a while after surgery but re-entered St. Joseph Hospital Nov. 30.

Native of Chicago
Walter Elias Disney was born in Chicago but moved as a boy with his family to a farm near Marceline, Mo., and later to Kansas City. There he studied cartooning and began experimenting with animated fairy tales.

Arriving in Hollywood in 1923 with $40, he formed a partnership with brother Roy and in time founded an entertainment kingdom on an animated cartoon mouse named Mickey.

Based on a rodent that used to sport around his Kansas City studio, the character was named Mortimer by Walt but renamed Mickey by his wife. Walt supplied its voice for the screen.

Donald Duck, Goofy, Pluto, the Three Little Pigs and other cartoon characters followed under, Disney's imaginative leadership.

Never satisfied with his own cartooning, Disney hadn't drawn in years. He once described himself as "a little bee, I go from one area of the studio to another and rather nollen and sort of stimulate everybody."

Dominated Studio
Disney dominated his studio, which branched into fairy-tale classics like the hugely successful "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the first feature-length cartoon

Con-Ed Officials To Defend Power Rate Hike Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Consolidated Edison officials testify today on rate increases granted the utility after consumers and government officials scored the Public Service Commission for permitting the raise before hearings on it. New York City Comptroller Mario Procaccino called on the State Legislature Thursday to revise procedures for utility rate hikes.

Expresses Shock

"I am shocked by utility regulation procedures in this state which permit Consolidated Edison to increase its rates to millions of power customers in our city merely upon filing of an amended tariff schedule with the Public Service Commission," he said.

He also asked the commission to adjourn its hearing for a thorough six-months study of Con Ed's application. In the meantime, he said, the three per cent rate hike that went into effect here and in Westchester County Nov. 25 without public hearings should be rescinded. Con Ed gains an estimated $32.4 million a year from the rate increase.

JOHN H. PENNOCK
Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York

Martin C. Seham, counsel for the Owners Committee on Electric Rates, Inc., which represents many large businesses, including Rockefeller Center, Inc., likened the hearing to the trial of the Knave of Hearts in Alice in Wonderland. "The Queen ordered, 'Sentence first-verdict afterward,'" he said.

J. Leon Siken, chairman of the Liberal party's subcommittee on power and public utilities, demanded that the five-member commission resign.

"This hearing is a charade and everyone knows it," he said.

Rep. William F. Ryan, Manhattan Democrat, asserted that utilities around the country have been able to cut rates while Con Ed always asks for more. He said San Franciscans pay half of New York's rates.

Con Ed officials testified earnings were down. They said the commission had determined that 6.2 to 6.3 per cent was a fair rate of return on the utility's investment. But, they said, during the year ending last June 30, the company's return was 5.19 per cent.

The rate increase will boost the return to 5.59 per cent, they said.

Standard and Poor's, a major securities rating firm, dropped Con Ed bonds last week from an AA rating to an A, citing the utility's drop in earnings.

Driver Gets Summons

PALTZ TREES IN N. Y.—Thornless Honey Locust trees from New Paltz glow with a myriad of Christmas stars. Twenty-eight of the trees in the sunken plaza surrounding the Columbia Broadcasting System Building in New York City were arrayed for the Yuletide with 13,440 standard-shaped white radio lamps. The decorative arrangement, with 480 lights on each tree, was executed by Lou Dorfman, CBS director of design. Workmen spent two weeks attaching the lamps with 6,000 feet of tie-wrap. This photo of one cluster of trees was taken by Bill Warnecke, of CBS's photo labs. He obtained the star-like effect by placing fine mesh window screening in front of the Sekor 65mm, wide-angle lens of a Mayiya-flex camera. Photo was taken at 5 p. m. with a lens opening of F5.6 at a speed of 1/4 second. Film was Tri-X, 800 ASA. (CBS photo)

'Life' Opens Office in City

A campaign to increase sales of Life Magazine in the Kingston-Poughkeepsie area opens today as Family Publication Service Inc., a firm owned by the publishers of Life, opens a permanent office at 259 Fair Street today.

According to John Jacobs, sales manager of the Albany office, the local office will be staffed by Manager Thomas Proniske and "four of five" locally hired office girls. The arrangements were handled through Loretta Newman, local real estate agent with offices at 644 1/2 Broadway.

Jacobs, expressing concern at the image created by disreputable magazine salesmen, stressed the office will be permanent. He said subscription sales will be attempted by offering "several other magazine subscriptions at the price of Life alone."

Commenting on the decision to locate in Kingston, Jacobs described this area as "relatively untouched" so far as such subscription campaigns are concerned. "This will be the first time we have had a permanent office in this very fertile section of the state."

Record Cargo

MONTREAL (AP) — The administration of the Port of Montreal said Thursday night a record amount of cargo will be handled by the port by the end of 1966.

In a year-end statistical report, the port administration predicted total foreign and domestic cargo would reach 24.5 million tons, an increase of 1 million tons over 1965, the previous record year.

The statistical report said a significant increase in the quantity of grain handled in the port is the main reason for the anticipated record tonnage.

The number of arrivals of foreign and domestic vessels increased by 2 per cent this year. Net registered tonnage went up by 19 per cent in the domestic category and 3 per cent in the deep sea ships, the report said.

Johnson Goes to Reed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson journeyed from the White House to Walter Reed Army Hospital today to visit former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, recuperating after the removal of his gall bladder on Monday.

The presidential car left the White House at 11:05 a. m. for the trip to the hospital in northwest Washington.

The Army hospital reported earlier today that Eisenhower continued to make good progress in his recovery.

Hold Saugerties Man After Shot Pierces Door

Accused of firing a shot through a door at the home of Mrs. Ina Madden, James Street, Saugerties, shortly after midnight today, Vincent Shaffer, 24, of Partition Street, that village, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Police Chief Gordon Keeley said Officer Harry Vickery received a call at 12:35 a. m. today that someone had fired a "shot" or a "firecracker" at the Madden home. Vickery and Officer William McPeck investigated and discovered a bullet hole in the top of a storm door on the James Street residence.

Chief Keeley reported that an examination inside the house disclosed that the bullet entered the living room and tore holes in two walls.

Shaffer was subsequently picked up for questioning and later booked on the disorderly conduct charge on complaint of Mrs. Madden. The defendant was released in custody of an attorney pending a hearing Dec. 20 at 7 p. m. before Judge David Goble.

Chief Keeley said it had not been determined the type of weapon that was involved. The investigation is continuing.

Our Christmas Tree
Said the Angel in the tree to the Cuckoo clock:
"This is a cozy home!"
Said the Cuckoo clock to the Angel:
"I just love it here."
So I hear the children at the door.
They're coming to see our tree.
And do you know, they love both,
you and me.
There's Grandma Queen, she has seen
The feeling we have in common.
There's Grandpa too with his coffee cup.
He lights the tree as soon as he's up.
See those men, handsome and tall.
I've known them, since they were small.
They're here today with childlike hearts.
For this is Christmas Day.
There's Richard too—he, he, he.
I'm as happy as can be
For he comes so close to me
When he trims the tree.
When next we sing "Good Will Will towards Men."
May we all be together again.—E. T.

Five bids were submitted and opened. The successful bidder was Kingston Trust Company with a bid of 4 per cent interest and a premium of $514.53.

State of New York National Bank 4.20 per cent interest and a premium of $340.

George B. Gibbons & Co., Inc., and Charles King & Company, 4.20 per cent interest.

Manufacturers and Traders Trust Company, Buffalo, 4.10 per cent interest.

The 30-year bond issue will provide funds for the new 1,500,000 gallon storage tank, a new water pumping station, and a new well which will yield a flow of 1,000 gallons of water per minute.

Work on the project has already been started, financed by bond issue anticipation notes. The bond issue will be used to pay these notes and finance completion of the work.

Sukarno to Travel

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno said today he will go abroad early next year, despite rising criticism against him at home, to attend a meeting of heads of states discussing Vietnam and ways to lessen world tension.

He said several world leaders had invited him and he will make the trip sometime in the first three months of 1967.

Sukarno has left the country during several previous domestic crises, let the parties fight among themselves and returned in a stronger position. This time, however, he is faced with increasing public demands that he answer allegations that he was involved in the Communist coup attempt in October 1965.

Pick Illinois Site for Atom Smasher Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weston, Ill., was picked today as the site for a $375-million atom smasher.

Closing out a competition that had involved dozens of communities across the nation seeking the gigantic enterprise, the Atomic Energy Commission announced the choice.

A site in the Hunter area of Greene County was among hundreds of sites under consideration for the facility and was inspected by government officials.

The 200 - billion - electron-volt proton accelerator is projected as the world's most powerful, designed to unravel many of the mysteries of the structure of matter.

Six sites to which the National Academy of Sciences had narrowed the choice have been under study by the commission since last March.

"All six sites would have been suitable locations for this project," AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg said. "Each proposal had many strong points, making the selection of one site an extremely difficult task. However, after weighing all factors, the commission unanimously decided that the Weston site, which is near Chicago and also near the Argonne National Laboratory, is the most suitable location for this large project."

Although Congress has authorized and appropriated money for scientific studies of the project, construction has not yet begun.

The facility would employ about 2,000, and would have an annual operating budget of about $60 million.

It would take six to eight years to build after construction funds are appropriated.

200 Competitors

Originally there were 200 competitors representing virtually every state. These were pared to 85 and then narrowed to six by the National Academy of Sciences.

The final six, in addition to Weston, were Madison, Wis.; Brookhaven, Long Island, N.Y.; Denver, Colo.; the "Sierra Foot-hills site" near Sacramento, Calif.; and Ann Arbor, Mich.

The atom smasher, designed to explore fundamental secrets of matter for peaceful purposes, would be shaped like a race track nearly a mile in diameter.

The project's operating budget and its 2,000 employees would bolster the economy and scientific prestige of any area.

Fire Rocket Launcher In Error at Saigon

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen said a rocket launcher was fired by accident tonight near the military gate of Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport, reportedly by South Vietnamese government troops. An investigation is under way.

No injuries were reported. The incident came 12 days after an attack by a Viet Cong suicide squad and mortar crews on the sprawling base, which handles both civilian and military traffic.

Show Cause Order Given Machinists

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — A striking machinists union has been ordered to show cause today why it should not be enjoined from what Mohawk Airlines terms "unlawful picketing" at the Oneida County airport here.

The order was obtained Thursday by attorneys for the regional carrier from State Supreme Court Justice Richard J. Cardamone and is returnable today.

The order was served Thursday night on William Scheri, president of Local Lodge 73 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, and on John Peterpaul, a district general chairman of the international union.

The papers accuse the striking union members of unlawful picketing "by blocking airport entrances, intimidating or threatening non-strikers, damaging or mutilating property, using violent and abusive language, and carrying false or misleading signs."

Named Division Head at College

A Woodstock man, Joseph C. Keefe, who soon expects to complete requirements for his Ph.D. degree, has been named chairman of the Division of Literature and Language at Ulster County Community College, Dr. Detle B. Lake, College president, said today.

"Professor Keefe has an excellent academic background," Dr. Lake said, "and has had wide experience in the community college area. We feel he is a definite asset for our college as a division head."

A member of the original U.C.C.C. faculty, Prof. Keefe was named to teach English and Literature in April, 1963, as an assistant professor. He was promoted to Associate Professor earlier this year.

Previously Prof. Keefe taught at Hudson Valley Community College for four years and taught at Dutchess Community College for two years. He also has taught in the Evening and Extension Division at Onondaga Community College.

He received his A.B. Degree from the State University of New York at Albany in June, 1950. His major area of study was English, his minor Speech.

He has an extensive interest in the theater and also has had considerable experience in this area. One winter season Keefe worked at the Playhouse in Albany as an actor and assistant stage manager. He also spent a summer season in the same capacities at the Brattleboro Summer Theater in Vermont.

Prof. Keefe entered the University of Iowa's Graduate School in Sept. 1953, to begin studying for his master's degree. His thesis was written on "Mark Twain's Use of Mississippi Valley Materials."

After obtaining his master's degree, he began Composition and American Literature teaching at Dutchess Community College. Prof. Keefe left Dutchess in 1962 to begin doctoral study at Syracuse University.

JOSEPH C. KEEFE

He joined the UCCC faculty in Sept. 1963, and since then he has been teaching and working to complete the requirements for his Ph.D. He hopes to complete the degree requirements this academic year and then will devote himself full-time to the academic life, teaching and writing.

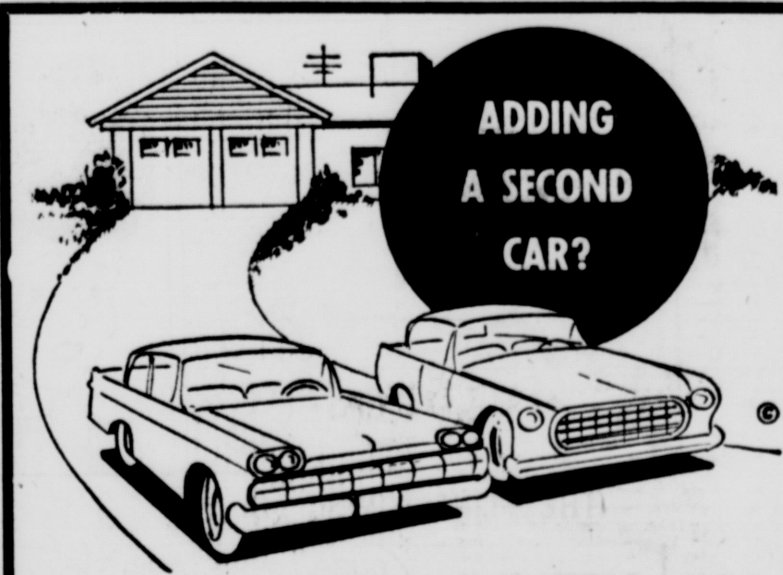

Prof. Keefe and his wife and stepson reside at 37 Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock.
